

Chrysler Ends Walkout With 13-Cent Raise

BY F. GLENN ENGLE
Detroit, May 29 (AP)—The Vanguard of 75,000 Chrysler Corp. workers began trickling back into the plants today, their 17-day strike ended by a straight 13-cent an hour wage increase.

With their return the second major labor dispute in the automobile industry this year was written off the books.

Chrysler's settlement with the CIO United Auto Workers, announced last night, bettered by two cents the raise given 225,000 strike-threatening General Motors employees under a cost of living formula only three days earlier.

It provided less than half the union's original demand but more than twice Chrysler's best previous offer.

It also extended the company's contract, due to expire in 11 months, until August, 1950. Either Chrysler or the UAW can seek an adjustment of wage rates once any time after June 15, 1949. Salaried employees, some of them represented by the UAW, were given an eight per cent raise with a floor of $20 a month.

There was no official explanation as to why Chrysler settled for a flat sum rather than the widely heralded GM sliding scale. However, a union customarily holds out for a penny or two more than the pattern for its members on strike.

Chrysler would not say whether it plans to raise car prices to cover its higher labor costs.

The agreement left only the

Marshall Tells How To Win In Cold War

Ignore Cynical Russian Propaganda, U.S. Warned

Portland, Ore., May 29 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall today before the country today his formula for winning the cold war with Russia.

It calls for:

1. A continued firm policy toward Russia.

2. A consistent U. S. foreign policy to convince European countries they can rely upon it.

3. Wariness of "deliberate, cynical propaganda" issued by the Russians to play on the western democracies' hope for "some agreement to wipe out the fear of war."

Marshall told the closing session of the general Federation of Women's Clubs' convention last night that the desire for peace could lead to "ill-advised and trustful actions which hazard the future of this country."

"I feel certain," he said, "that the continuation of the firm course we have been following will lead to the solution of the world's difficulties and will eventually clear the way to a sound basis for peace."

"I am absolutely certain that only such a firm and determined course can save the situation for the democracies," he added.

PackingHouse CIO Votes Return To Work At Waterloo

Waterloo, Ia., May 29 (AP)—Members of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers Union have voted to return to work at the Rath Packing plant, scene of rioting May 19 after a union picket was killed.

Company and union officials differed sharply, however, on the contract under which the workers are returning.

Lee Simon, union public relations officer, said union members voted to return "under the old contract agreements with the company, amended only on the wage issue."

A. D. Connell, company secretary, said the company had "cancelled the old contract May 3 on account of union strike violations."

The union has been on strike since March 16.

The riot which led to calling out the National Guard came after a day of mounting tension in which the company obtained two injunctions against the union.

Detroit Theaters Granted Injunction Against Fast Time

Detroit, May 29 (AP)—The city of Detroit can't force daylight saving time on its residents, a circuit court order held today.

Acting on the petition of three groups of theater owners, Judge Lila M. Neuenfeldt issued an injunction yesterday restraining enforcement of the fast time the city council put into effect in April.

But city attorney James R. Walsh insisted Detroit "still is officially on daylight saving time."

"Let other enterprises operate on the time they want," he added.

Ralph Garger, attorney for the theater men, argued they had lost more than a million dollars in revenue since the new time began, since "children won't go to sleep until after dark and it keeps their parents from going to the movies."

Guns At Annapolis Welcome Truman

Annapolis, Md., May 29 (AP)—A 21-gun salute welcomed President Truman to the Naval Academy today for a round of Memorial Day weekend sports events.

The president stood on the deck of the Yacht USS Williamsturg anchored in the Severn River as the guns fired from the Stribling Walk Battery at 7 a. m. (EST.)

He will be back in Washington tomorrow in time to lay a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery, and deliver an address at 11:15 a. m. (EST.)

Princess Anne And Ex-King Mihai Wed June 5 At Athens

Copenhagen, Denmark, May 29 (AP)—A source close to the royal family said today Princess Anne of Bourbon Parma will marry former King Mihai of Romania in Athens June 5.

The Princess will leave Copenhagen by air for Greece tomorrow, the informant added.

The wedding ceremony will follow the Greek orthodox ritual and will be performed by the aged archbishop Damaskinos, the informant said.

Mihai, 26, is a member of the Greek Orthodox church. Princess Anne, 24, is a Roman Catholic.

Last March Pope Pius XII refused to grant a special dispensation permitting the marriage. Queen Helen, mother of Mihai, and Princess Margrethe, mother of Anne, had visited the Pope in the hope of obtaining the dispensation.

Anne's mother and her two brothers, Prince Jacques and Prince Michel, will accompany Anne to Athens.

The marriage will take place on Denmark's constitution day. This is regarded as a courtesy gesture towards the Royal Danish house to which Anne belongs.

Anne and members of her family refused to comment on the marriage report. It was learned, however, that she will leave Copenhagen for the Greek capital at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Deadlock Halts Pay Talks At Dow Plant

Midland (AP)—The Dow Chemical Co. and its United Mine Workers (UMW) have reached a "complete deadlock" in negotiations on the 25-cent hourly wage boost demanded by the union and have asked state labor mediators to intervene in the dispute.

Harold J. Bowers, president of the union's local 12075, said state mediators probably would enter the case Tuesday or Wednesday. Some 5,000 workers are involved.

Northwest's Flood Worst In 54 Years

Thousands Lose Homes; No Relief In Sight

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More thousands fled their endangered homes today in the Pacific Northwest's worst flood in 54 years.

The death toll mounted to 15 and property damage soared into uncounted millions. Main rail and highway routes were disrupted and more were threatened.

An officially declared state of emergency existed in Washington and Idaho. The militia was ordered out in British Columbia to aid the swelling numbers of refugees.

An ominous new note in the disastrous floods was the announcement that the waters may stay near flood stage for more than a month.

Travel was disrupted in wide sections of western Canada and to a lesser extent in Washington state. The transcontinental main line of the Great Northern railroad was cut by the Wenatchee river near Cashmere. Traffic was being rerouted over other tracks.

Vancouver, B. C., had only one rail link left to western Canada. The main Columbia river highway east of Portland was closed by floods.

Confederate Army Still Outnumbered 1-0 In Tennessee

Dayton, Tenn., May 29 (AP)—The Confederate army still is outnumbered in Tennessee—one to nothing—as another Memorial Day nears.

William (Uncle Bill) Morgan, 104-year-old union veteran who lives in Dayton, is the only known veteran of the war between the states living in Tennessee.

Uncle Bill said he was 18 years old when he volunteered for the Union army at Knoxville in 1861. He said his cousin was a Union organizer.

The veteran said he was honorably discharged at Nashville July 12, 1865.

The ancient warrior is a staunch Republican and proudly boasts he cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln.

Dud Shell Lands On Holy Sepulchre

Jerusalem, Thursday, May 27 (AP)—The Holy Sepulchre was hit today by a mortar shell which did not explode, a Roman Catholic priest living in the shrine reported by telephone.

It was not known whether the shell was from Jewish or Arab held territory.

TRADEMARK REVIVED Grand Rapids (AP)—Charles R. Sligh, Jr., whose father founded the Sligh Furniture Co., has obtained the company's name and the goodwill of its stockholders. The firm quit manufacturing in 1932, turning its factories into warehouses which recently were purchased by Nash-Kelvinator Corporation. Sligh now heads three Michigan furniture enterprises and said he planned to use the family name later as a trademark.

BOY SLAYER'S VICTIM State's attorney officials at Chicago will ask the grand jury next Tuesday for a murder indictment against Roy Adams, husky, baby-faced 14 year old boy, in the suffocation-killing of Nancy Schuler (above), his eight year old neighbor and playmate.

State's Attorney William J. Tuohy announced the plans late yesterday after the youth altered his original story and told him he was sexually motivated in slaying the tiny blonde girl in his bedroom Thursday.

Adams, who was seized early Friday morning after an all night police search, at first insisted to police he smothered Nancy to death with pillows solely because they had quarreled over comic books.

MacArthur Plans Trip Back To U.S.A. General Avoids Political Conventions In June

BY RUSSELL BRINES

Tokyo, May 29 (AP)—General MacArthur appeared ready today to plan his first trip to continental United States in 11 years—after the June political conventions.

As matters now stand he is awaiting another invitation from the Senate appropriations committee to appear in Washington sometime after the national conventions. He rejected the committee's request to start home within a few days on the grounds this timing would appear to be "politically inspired."

There was a note of consistency in this position. The general has insisted his personal political ambitions were to be kept separate from his position as supreme commander of Allied powers in Japan. This, of course, would virtually be impossible if he appeared around the time of the Republican convention in Philadelphia.

But after June he said "I should feel free to place myself fully at your disposal" to clarify Oriental issues which will be just as complex in July as now.

This seemed to make a second invitation inevitable. Any reluctance by the Senate committee to seek his guidance at a later date could be construed as a distinct rebuff for MacArthur and as convincing evidence the original invitation was meant primarily for political reasons.

South Africa May Withdraw In U. N. Pretoria, Union of South Africa, May 29 (AP)—Newspapers said today South Africa's new Nationalist government is likely to consider whether to withdraw from the United Nations.

The Nationalist party which defeated Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts in the election Tuesday frequently insisted in the past that South Africa cancel her membership in the U. N. because of the world organization's attitude toward this country's Indian question.

India has charged in the U. N. general assembly that South Africa discriminates against her Indian population. The assembly ordered the two countries to negotiate their differences on the issue. Nothing came of the resolution.

Fire Sweeps Ghetto As Arabs Attack In Modern Jerusalem

Cairo, May 29 (AP)—Arab troops began an attack today in modern Jerusalem. Jews, short of water and food, tried desperately to break a blockade of all four highways entering the city.

Legion guns pounded Jewish concentrations in new Jerusalem, even as raging fires swept the ancient Jewish ghetto in the old city. Their Israeli remnants, with food and ammunition gone, surrounded yesterday after a five-month siege topped off by an 11-day pounding from the guns of King Abdullah's Arab legion.

Now the Jews in all Jerusalem are under a throttling state of siege that can be ended only by the opening of supply routes to the Mediterranean coast.

Thousands of Israelis and Arabs were locked in a battle west of Jerusalem for the highway from Tel Aviv which could supply the Holy City's 60,000 Jews. The Arabs threw armor, artillery, planes and all the manpower they could spare into the fight, Tel Aviv reports said.

Fires raged through the night in the Jewish quarter. The Arabs blamed Jewish mines which they said exploded from time fuses after the surrender was concluded.

To the west in the Latrun area the big battle which may be a decisive one grew hourly in intensity. Thousands of both sides were committed to the struggle for the lifeline road which links Tel Aviv with Jerusalem. Egyptian planes were reported taking part in the fight.

Soviets Breaking Up Council For Berlin Red Officer Won't Sit Next To American

Berlin, May 29 (AP)—A bitter 15-hour meeting of the four-power body for governing Berlin ended today with the Soviet representative announcing he would no longer sit next to his American counterpart.

Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, Soviet commander of Berlin, said he would no longer be seated next to Col. Frank Howley, the American commander, at meetings of the Kommandatura, the four-power governing body. A Soviet deputy will be placed between them.

Kotikov added:

The meeting was the longest and perhaps the most acrid in the history of the Kommandatura. It convinced American officials to reiterate their belief that the allied supervisory council for Berlin would soon cease to function.

"I don't think the Kommandatura will last long now," said one American official. "There was an obvious increased move by the Russians today to close it down."

Kotikov preceded his announcement on seating with a long statement in which he accused the Americans and British of "trying to divide Berlin" as the major occupation zones have been split.

Chile Argues With Russia Over Wives, Appeals To U. N. Lake Success, May 29 (AP)—Chile has taken her argument with Russia over wives to the United Nations.

The Latin-American Republic asked that the Kremlin's refusal to allow wives of foreigners out of Russia be aired before the general assembly in Paris in September.

The Chilean complaint contained two counts:

1. Russia violated human rights by preventing Russian wives of foreigners from leaving the country with their husbands.

2. Russia violated traditional diplomatic practice by refusing to allow a member of the family of the former Chilean ambassador to Russia to leave the country accompanied by the ambassador.

Russia is expected to object even to hearing the charges.

Mysterious Killing Of Detroit Woman Looks Like Suicide

Detroit, May 29 (AP)—Police said today their continued investigation of Mrs. Augusta Kowalski's mysterious death made the case "look more and more like a suicide."

Officers were looking into the possibility that the 55-year-old divorcee might have taken her life in a fit of despondency. Her daughter, Mrs. Leona Painter, was slain more than a year ago, and acquaintances of Mrs. Kowalski said she had expressed belief she might "go the same way."

Mrs. Painter was choked and beaten to death. Her killer has never been located.

INSEPARABLE COMPANIONS are Robert LaComb, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon LaComb, 305 South 19th street, and the two young gray squirrels, who are perched on his shoulder, their favorite resting place. Robert rescued the two babies when their mother was killed and is making a good job of raising them on a diet of bread and milk.

Holy Land Peace Plan Lost In U. N.

BY LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, May 29 (AP)—Despite strong American-Russian support, a proposal for United Nations force to stop the Palestine war appeared headed for defeat today.

Security Council President Alexandre Parodi of France said he hoped to get a vote by tonight. The plan needs seven affirmative ballots in the 11-nation council. Only the United States, Russia, the Soviet Ukraine, France and Colombia have supported it.

The Russian-introduced proposal would order the Jews and Arabs, including Arab governments, to halt military operations.

1. Britain wants a four-week armistice during which final efforts toward peaceful settlement of Jewish-Arab differences would be pushed. During that time importation of arms and fighting personnel into Palestine would be banned. The Jews already have rejected the plan in its present form. Canada was reported preparing a series of amendments in a move to help its passage.

2. France wants the council to concentrate on stopping the warfare in Jerusalem. The plan would call on Jews and Arabs to cease fighting in the Holy City with a threat of strong measures if there was not complete compliance.

3. Colombia asks the big five to consult on measures to enforce compliance with two previously ignored cease-fire appeals from the council. Under this plan a five-nation commission also would be set up to seek a peaceful settlement.

Seven Lose Lives In Crash Of C-47 Bodies In Huge Crater Near Baton Rouge

Baton Rouge, La., May 29 (AP)—Heavy earth-moving equipment is to begin work today digging from a huge crater the bodies of seven service men and the Air Force plane in which they crashed.

The plane, a twin-engine C-47, was lost about 7:30 p. m. (CST) Thursday in a violent electrical storm. All aboard were killed. Because of the storm the crash was not discovered until yesterday.

Lt. R. L. Krewet of Keeler Air Force base, Biloxi, Miss., who headed a preliminary investigation, said the accident apparently was caused by engine trouble as well as the storm.

The plane was en route from New Orleans to Roswell at the time of the crash in a cornfield near Roselle, about 20 miles from here.

The crash struck the ground almost vertically, burying its engines at the bottom of a 15-foot crater. The gas tanks apparently exploded, shattering the plane and strewn wreckage and portions of bodies over an acre.

FALLS FOUR STORIES

Detroit (AP)—Four-year-old William Tingly fell through a screened window at Henry Ford Hospital Friday and dropped four stories to a grassy plot. Physicians said he apparently was not hurt. William and his brother Robert, six, had been in the hospital for observation for several days and were playing near the window.

Tokyo to Restore Famous Dog Statue

Tokyo, (AP)—Dog lovers have arranged for a new statue of Hachiko, Japan's most famous dog.

Hachiko became famous in the '20s. Each night he met his master at the busy Shibuya railroad station here. When the master died, Hachiko did not understand. Nightly he met the commuter trains for 11 years looking for his master.

After he died in 1934, a statue was raised by commuters to his memory. They grew accustomed to meet "in front of Hachiko."

During the war the statue was melted down for the Army. People made much ado over Hachiko going to war and a farewell ceremony was held.

Now they are bringing him back.

Youth Activities Are Stressed By Anne Livingston

"One of the functions of the volunteer recreation leader is to help young people turn their energies into the right channels," says Anne Livingston, of the National Recreation association, who will arrive May 31, to conduct a recreation leadership training institute sponsored jointly by the association, the Recreation department and the Delta County Youth Guidance Committee.

As a training specialist of the National Recreation association, Mrs. Livingston will conduct an institute starting Tuesday night, June 1. This course, open to all leaders of recreation, will be held in the Youth Center building. Classes will be held daily from 7:00 p. m., to 9:00 p. m.

How to lead children, how to conduct a teen-age party, how to keep children busy during a rainy day recess at school, are only a few of the things Mrs. Livingston will present during the institute. Leaders will learn by doing, have fun, and secure excellent material for use in their organization for young or old, indoors or out. For further information phone 1347.

The VFW project, regarded as a highly worthwhile endeavor matches that of the local American Legion post in providing a Memory Lane on US-2 west of the city in honor of veterans of World War I.

William J. Miller, Delta county probate judge, will be the dedication speaker. Opening remarks and introductions will be made by William Koonce of the Escanaba VFW post, and Robert E. LeMire, Mayor of Escanaba, will deliver a brief opening address.

The Rev. Fr. Maier will give the invocation, after which Mr. Miller will speak. Also on the program is the singing of "God Bless America" by the assembly and a reading of "In Flanders Field" by Tony Flynn.

After the reading, the earth will be turned for the dedication tree. The military phase of the program will include the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the Escanaba city band, during which a military detachment will present arms, and a firing squad of Company C, Delta county National Guard unit, will fire several volleys during the planting of the tree.

The Rev. James G. Ward will give the benediction, and the bugler's "Taps" will conclude the dedication.

All veterans in Escanaba and vicinity are invited to attend the program. The public also is invited.

Solemn Ceremonies Will Mark Memorial Day Here

Business activity in Escanaba will cease and solemn ceremonies will mark the observance of Memorial Day on Monday, May 31, when public tribute will be paid to the memory of the war dead of this community and the nation.

The Memorial Day program is sponsored by the Cloverland Post No. 82, American Legion, with Elmer Swanson general chairman of the arrangements committee. Tom Beaton will be master of ceremonies, and William Miron will be officer of the day. Other members of the committee include Phil Bruce, Elmer St. Martin, Roy Baldwin and Robert LeMire.

LeMire, commander of the firing squad, announced that the squad will meet at Legion hall at 8 a. m. Monday and will visit Lakeview cemetery, Holy Cross cemetery and Gardens of Rest to fire volleys over the graves of war veterans.

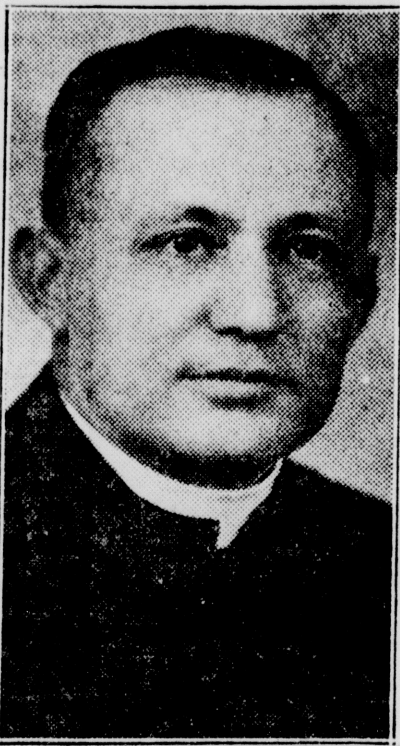

Parade Starts at 10

Starting at 10 a. m., a parade that will form in front of the Junior High school building, will march east on Ludington to Third street, and thence turn right to proceed to Ludington Park. There the principal part of the memorial program will be conducted. All veterans organizations of the city, including the Legion, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars, will participate in the program.

The order of units in the parade will be as follows:

The colors and color guard, the Escanaba city band, firing squad, American Legion, United States Army recruiting service, Gold Star Mothers in cars, Disabled War Veterans, High School band and drum corps, Spanish American War veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, veterans of all wars whether they are members of veteran's organization, National Guard, unions and civic organizations, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls.

EXTENSION OF PARK DEBATED

City Council Meets With Planning Comish

The city planning commission and the Escanaba city council, meeting jointly in a special meeting Friday night at the city hall, discussed at length the problem of whether the city park along the Ludington street waterfront should be extended to include the north sides of the 200 and 300 blocks of Ludington street but deferred final action until a survey to determine the prospects for financing apartment construction on the south side of the 300 block of Ludington street is completed.

The council and the planning commission were in unanimous agreement that two lots on the west corner of the north side of the 200 block, now owned by Jensen and Jensen, should be purchased by the city for park extension. The owners are not desirous of selling the lots, however, and prefer to develop the property for commercial use.

Alfred Brandt, building contractor, has petitioned the city for permission to construct a warehouse for the Jewel Tea company in the 300 block of Ludington street, north side.

Would Increase Traffic

Mayor Robert Lemire requested the planning commission to settle the issue one way or the other Friday night, pointing out that the decision has already been delayed for more than a month. The commission felt, however, that a proper decision could not be made until it was determined whether the prospects for constructing multiple apartment dwellings on the south side of the 300 block are favorable or not. Such a survey is now being made.

It was emphasized that the construction of warehouses on the east end of Ludington street call of all men from Delta county who died in World War II, and Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" will be presented by Herman Kallman.

Music of the program will include selections by the city band and solos by Jack Morin and Frank Hirm.

would not only rule out the development of an apartment project on the opposite side of the street but would also increase the flow of heavy traffic through the city's business district.

Arvo Hendrickson, local agent of the Jewel Tea company, told the council and the planning commission that the company is willing to construct its warehouse elsewhere in the city.

A request by George Hedsten for authority to make major improvements in his electric store across from the Webster school on Washington avenue, a Class A residential district, was rejected by the planning commission. Hedsten desired to remodel the store extensively and to install facilities for retailing ice cream, candy, etc. The commission decided that Hedsten would have to conform to existing regulations, which preclude major improvements to a commercial establishment in a residential district.

The commission reviewed a previous recommendation that no residential construction be permitted in an industrially-zoned area. The commission sustained its recommendation but pointed out that some industrial areas should be changed to residential and that consideration will be given to this in developing the master plan of the city. The problem had been referred back to the planning commission by the city council.

Liberalization of the proposal to require fireproof construction for all buildings, including residential, in commercial and local business zones was recommended by the planning commission. It was agreed that single and double family dwellings need not be of fireproof construction.

SAFE FISHING DRIVE BEGUN

Local Junior Chamber Sponsors Project

The Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce has launched a safe fishing campaign.

With the cooperation of owners of boat livers in the Escanaba, the Jaysees are posting about fifty fishing locations on Bay de Noc and Green bay with signs, urging fishermen to be careful to prevent accidents. The sign is headed with the following message: "Attention Fishermen! Do not Stand Up in the Boat."

In addition, the Jaysees will stencil the seats of about 300 boats in the area with a similar warning. Other safety measures will be undertaken later.

The campaign was launched after the recent drowning of a Spring Green, Wis., resident in Bay de Noc off Masonville recently.

World Needs Peace Hopes

ONCE more on Sunday, May 30, the nation will honor its war dead, will reflect on their deeds and sacrifices.

Each solemn observance of Memorial Day since the end of World War II has found a world more confused, more alarmed, seemingly more likely to plunge into a third great conflict.

While paying tribute to heroes slaughtered in former wars, it would seem proper also to pray for peacetime heroes who may rescue us from future wars.

On battlefields around the globe, the graves of American comrades will be decorated—in some cases by comrades who now man their stations, sometimes by foreign friends, gained during battle, and faithful now forever.

On each soldier's grave, a fresh new flag, Parades down flag-lined streets, massed colors, military firing squads, local bands of every description, fine and drum corps, lone buglers sounding Taps—these will stir the heart of all Americans in their range.

In the National Cemetery at Arlington, Va., the grave of the Unknown Soldier will be decorated as a symbol of American remembrance of all his comrades. The immortal words of Abraham Lincoln will be heard again at Gettysburg, and repeated thousands of times across the country.

In churches throughout the land, fervent prayers for future peace will accompany America's tribute to its war dead.

And yet, through it all, tireless news tickers will be pounding out the story of the "cold" war with Russia, the "hot" war in Palestine, war in China—the needs of war throughout the world.

On this Memorial Day, 1948, may Americans find new strength, new wisdom. May our leaders find new guidance that will enable them to lead the world out of its confusion and distress. May the living spirits of those who have died for America penetrate the hearts and souls of those who live and work. May those who live and work strive to become heroes of the peace—heroes willing to give and sacrifice, just as the war heroes we honor sacrificed themselves for the cause of freedom.

The whole world might well pray with America that heroes of the peace will arise, and will, through their efforts, insure that we will not have another long roster of heroic war dead to pay tribute to on a Spring Sunday.

"Voice Of America"

A congressional investigation of the "Voice of America" broadcasts beamed to the world is shaping up to determine who is responsible and why for some of the drivel that has been broadcast abroad under the name of the American state department.

The purpose of the "Voice of America" radio series is to acquaint people of other lands with the American way of life and to present accurate information on the happenings and history of this country. In general the program has been an influential factor in world affairs. It has been successful in transcending many of the information barriers established behind the iron curtain. To some areas abroad the "Voice of America" shortwave broadcasts are the only means at our disposal to let these people know how our system of free enterprise actually works for the betterment of our society.

Obviously, however, if the government-sponsored broadcasts are going to be fully effective, it is essential that the material beamed abroad be factually correct. Such drivel as "New England was founded by hypocrites and Texas by sin," one of the statements aired in a state department broadcast, is not only libelous but worse, it defeats the very purpose for which the "Voice of America" series was launched.

Some statements, strangely enough, appear to have been the result of a deliberate attempt to vilify the American heritage. These portions of the broadcasts could not have been any more misleading if they had been prepared in the hearing of the Kremlin.

If Communist influences were responsible for the preparation of this broadcast material, one of the purposes would be to discredit the program to the extent that it would be ordered abandoned by congressional hostility. This would be a mistake since it would deprive us of the only means at our command to tell our part in world affairs to the people of many other lands.

Czechs' Election

THE voters of Czechoslovakia will hold a parliamentary election tomorrow but like other elections conducted in Communist-dominated lands, this one is strictly no-contest. There are 300 seats in the Czech parliament and 210 of them are automatically guaranteed to the Communist party. The other 90 will be divided among the remaining political parties by pre-arrangement, with their representatives carefully handicapped and endorsed by the Gottwald Communist government.

The entire election is being conducted on a single-ticket basis. That is, the voter will have his choice of casting his ballot for the single candidate whose name appears on the ballot or of casting a blank ballot. Needless to say, if he does cast a blank ballot his life insurance rates are bound to go up quickly. The Communists don't like to be treated like that.

The single ticket was decided upon by the Red government, it was announced, to avoid a bitter election campaign and to avoid a waste of paper in campaign literature. For that matter, it probably would be better if the election were not held at all because even more paper could be saved in that way. As for the results, they are the same either way, if an election is held or if not. Nobody wins an election in a Communist dominated land except by Communist permission. The selection of parliamentary members is not made by the voters but by the Communist party. The Reds say that it is done that way to promote national unity.

Pensions For All?

THE American Legion council of Milwaukee county, Wisconsin, has adopted a resolution requesting federal pensions of $65 monthly for all veterans of World War I when they become 55 years old. The resolution is now headed for review by the Wisconsin state convention of the American Legion.

The resolutions committee of the Milwaukee county Legion council rejected the proposal as impractical and a scheme that would create a staggering financial burden for the nation. Nevertheless, the council, acting in total disdain of the national interest, went on record in support of this huge and unreasonable raid on the federal treasury.

In proposing this tremendous pension grab, the council made no suggestion as to how the pensions were to be financed. At least the Townsends, with their zany schemes for pensions to the aged, have made some proposals, ridiculous as they may be, to finance their schemes to raid the treasury.

The proposal has no chance of acceptance in the American Congress and the Milwaukee Legion men probably realize this. It does indicate a trend in veterans' demands that may be presumed to accelerate in the years ahead.

We have reason to be proud of the fact that the American people have been far more generous in their consideration of veterans' needs than any other people of any nation in the world. This generosity can be carried to burdensome extremes and certainly the bursdensome Wisconsin council comes under that category.

STEEL GOES WEST

(Jackson Citizen Patriot)

Action has been taken by one of America's basic industries that may be the beginning of a new era of industrialization for the western part of the country.

The United States Steel corporation has decided to open steel plants at Geneva, Utah, and Pittsburg, Calif.

Admittedly steel constitutes a vital factor for the continued industrial development of the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast states.

With steel production in Utah and California, processors of steel products and users of steel and its component parts will have a source comparatively close at hand.

By taking the advice of Horace Greeley, who told the young men of his day seeking opportunity to "go west," the steel industry has taken a step that will be much to its own best interest and that may make the far west boom industrially as never before.

TYPICAL BOY TRICK

(Detroit News)

We hope nothing more severe than a mild scolding is coming to Jimmy Bodard, 11, and Ronnie Peterson, 12, who used comic book instruction for flying a borrowed airplane 120 miles.

They are only great-grandsons of boys who rode their fathers' fractious horses 75 years ago, and grandsons of boys who borrowed and drove their fathers' automobiles at the turn of the century.

Typical American boys are curious, daring, courageous; and when they grow up they set the pace for their fellows. Keep an eye on Jimmy and Ronnie; they'll get along! Of such stuff were the dashing heroes of the recent war made!

Claremont: What does (sic) mean in newspapers and magazine articles? The only "sic" I know is the one I use in sacking my dog on a cat.—F. M.

Answer: The word sic, usually in parentheses—(sic)—, is Latin for "thus." It is used to indicate that a word or figure in the original manuscript has been followed exactly, even though it may be an error or a misspelling, as, "He is employed as a rodeo (sic) announcer." Or, "In 1942 (sic) Columbus discovered America." Sic is pronounced exactly like the word "sick."

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—Several times in this column there have been references to Republican leaders who want to take the country back to the logrolling tariff days of William McKinley. They have ganged up in the House to extend the reciprocal trade agreements for only one year and with amendments which would hamper this system of insuring the free movement of trade across national boundaries.

Now, from a friendly correspondent in Iowa, I learn that I have done McKinley an injustice. McKinley, the creation of Mark Hanna, the white knight of Republican oratory, was actually ahead of the party of today. Or, at any rate, he was ahead of the potent GOP leaders who believe they can sidetrack the reciprocal trade issue.

On Sept. 5, 1901, President McKinley made a speech at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo. It was his last public utterance. On the following day he was shot by an assassin, and he died eight days later.

TALKED OF NEW ERA

That was a singularly significant time in the history of the republic. The Spanish-American War had pushed America's vital interests into the Far Pacific, with responsibility for the Philippines. While most Americans in that comfortable era were not aware of it, the days of isolation were numbered.

In that last address, McKinley talked of the new era and of American responsibilities with something like prophetic vision. On the subject of trade, McKinley said:

"The period of exclusiveness is past. The expansion of our trade and commerce is the pressing problem. Commercial wars are unprofitable. A policy of good will and friendly trade relations will prevent reprisals. Reciprocity treaties are in harmony with the spirit of the times; measures of retaliation are not. If, perchance, some of our tariffs are no longer needed for revenue or to encourage and protect our industries at home, why should they not be employed to extend and promote the markets abroad?"

Even as he was speaking those final words, McKinley was waiting for the Senate to act on a dozen commercial treaties providing reciprocity—treaties that were caught in the jam of political pressures. Log-rolling senators could easily kill off those individual treaties. They could, and did, pick them off one by one.

TAKEN OUT OF POLITICS

That was a major reason for the Hull trade agreements act. It was intended to take such reciprocal tariff reductions out of politics and put the whole business in the hands of the inter-departmental committee that would consider it from the point of view of the economic good of the nation.

Now the little band of men who run the House mean to put it right back into politics, and all their double talk does not conceal that fact. Secretary of State George C. Marshall has said that passage of the one-year extension with its crippling amendments would be worse than no extension at all.

Unless the Senate can act with exceptional speed and determination, that is just what we will get. The chairman of the Senate finance committee, Sen. Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, is a fair-minded man. It is inconceivable that he would use the high-handed tactics of the House which kept the hearings secret and dismissed opponents as mere meddlesome clubwomen.

Open hearings before Millikin's committee would at least give the opposition a chance to present its views. Even though the time is so short, with the present trade agreements act expiring on June 12, the debate on the Senate floor promises to be hot.

Those in favor of the present law, and this includes many Republicans, believe they can knock out the crippling amendments. But they would be likely to pay for that victory with a compromise which would mean extension for only a year.

Here is an issue that gets down to whether the Republicans are capable of accepting responsibility for government in the middle of the 20th century. The nations of western Europe have followed the U. S. lead in moving toward a world trade organization built around reciprocal lowering of tariffs. If that policy is now repudiated, western Europe will feel that we have run out on the kind of program which would make a real rehabilitation and reconstruction possible.

It is high time that the Republican party caught up with William McKinley.

Awaiting Permission

Good Evening

SEASON OF FLOWERS.—With the Memorial Day weekend just around the corner, and hundreds of people planning picnic pleasure trips into the woods, it might be well to point out that literally millions of scarce and sometimes rare native wildflowers will fall victim to the snatch and grab addicts.

Dunathan

While there is a state law that prohibits the cutting, removal, transportation, or the offering for sale of certain wildflowers and shrubs without the written permission of the owner of the land from which they were taken, the law is little enforced insofar as the wildflowers are concerned. The boys and girls offering for sale bunches of arbutus or bittersweet along Michigan highways are violating the law—yet who would be so heartless as to take them in custody?

Rather the emphasis in wildflower protection is upon education. Both children and adults must learn that to pick the blossom of many wildflowers means to pick—and to kill.

MILLIONS OF TRILLIUMS.—Right now many woodland areas are dotted white with the blossoming trillium. Its three-petaled flowers are scattered by the million over acres of forest floor, and to pick a few growing near the highway seems a harmless thing to do.

To pick the trillium is to kill the lily bulb from which it grows. For the bulb is dependent for its life upon the three leaves put forth on the stalk just below the flower. When the flowering stalk is picked the bulb dies, for its source of growth and development is gone. Over a period of years the trillium has practically disappeared from areas adjacent to roads and highways because of the numbers that have been picked.

DELICATE LADY SLIPPER.—The showy lady slipper, rare Michigan native orchid that decreased in numbers so alarmingly that once it was feared the species might disappear, has found a powerful friend in W. C. Waterman, botany professor emeritus of Northwestern University. At Frankfort, Michigan, Prof. Waterman has succeeded in reproducing the plant from seed. It took him 10 years to bring up five seedlings!

The work required patience, because it takes 12 to 15 years from germination to flower production. Even in its native marshy habitat, the plant's reproduction is poor, with only 10 per cent of the blossoms producing seed, and only after two or three years in the ground does the germinating seed produce leaves.

Today Prof. Waterman has 50 transplanted showy lady slippers in his garden, and last season counted more than 200 blossoms on them.

THE HARSH LAW.—Act 124 of Public Acts of 1933 prohibits the cutting, removal or transport within the state of certain trees, shrubs, vines and flowers, or to offer them for sale without the written consent of the owner of the land on which they grow. The flowers so protected from overzealous beauty-lovers are: Trailing arbutus, bird's foot

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba.—Donald T. Holmes, 530 South 14th street, has been selected from among 900 aspirants to undergo examination for appointment to the Connecticut academy for training of U. S. Coast Guard officers.

Escanaba.—Fred Anutta, James Kraus and Anthony Maloney are among students who will graduate this year from Michigan College of Mining and Technology in Houghton.

Manistique.—Miss Edith Westcott, student of Michigan State College, East Lansing, has arrived to visit here with her mother, Mrs. Eva Westcott.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba.—Rev. John B. Hubbard, popular pastor of the First Presbyterian church for the past three years, has resigned and will leave shortly for Evanston, Ill., where he will continue his education.

Manistique.—W. G. Stephens was appointed to fill the vacancy of justice of the peace to succeed the late Judge W. A. McKinney by the Manistique city council last night.

Gladstone.—Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Skellenger have returned from Detroit where Mr. Skellenger attended the Masonic grand lodge convention.

Persons convicted of violations of this law face penalties as follows: Where the value of the plants removed is less than $50, a fine not exceeding $100 and/or jail for not more than 90 days; and where the value of the property removed exceeds $50, a fine of not more than $500 and/or confinement in state prison for not more than 2 years.

UNDERSTANDING.—The law is seldom invoked except in the case of persons willfully and knowingly cutting and removing trees and shrubs from private or state-owned lands without a permit. To our knowledge there has never been an arrest and prosecution for picking wildflowers.

For this reason it is doubly important that people understand the necessity for voluntarily observing the law. Then will come the desire to enjoy the flowers in nature's woodland garden without the thoughtless possessiveness that causes many people to pick and remove them from their natural setting.

NORTHLAND ASSET.—Each year additional thousands of vacationing visitors come to Northern Michigan, seeking recreation.

One of the most satisfying pleasures they receive is that of observing nature's unspoiled scenery. They thrill to the clear rushing stream, the pounding waves on the shore, the towering pine trees, and the gaily nodding flowers in fields and woods. All are important to the scene, and a landscape barren of wildflowers would be dreary indeed.

Phil DeGraff, who operates a resort at Trout Lake, is doing an effective job of educating the public on the need of preserving wildflowers. Each spring a wildflower festival is held there, with people attending from all parts of the state. Other Michigan resorts might well follow DeGraff's example, for wildflowers are one of the assets of the state's recreation industry.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Two days ago this column contrasted the high-pressure methods of the oleomargarine lobby with the unorganized but plaintive hopes of several million people for homes—through passage of the housing act.

Here is another chapter in the story. It illustrates how the present Republican Congress eats out of the hand of the big lobbies.

What the public doesn't know is that their money has gone to pay a group of high-powered New York press agents to sit right inside the joint congressional committee on housing and propagandize on behalf of the real-estate lobby.

The press agents are Bell, Jones and Taylor of 350 Fifth avenue, New York, and two members of the firm were each paid $10,000 a year to spread real-estate-lobby propaganda from their carefully placed spots inside the committee. Another member of the firm was paid $25 a day.

During the Hoover administration when Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut allowed a lobbyist from the Connecticut Manufacturers association to set in on a secret tariff hearing, Bingham was reprimanded by his Republican Senate colleagues and later defeated for re-election. The temper of some Republican senators has now changed.

HOW THE LOBBY OPERATED

The Republicans who hired the real-estate-lobby press agents were affable Senator Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin and Rep. Ralph Gamble of New York. The neat sleight-of-hand used by these two housing committee members was to put Press Agent Luther Bell on the payroll at $10,000 as assistant to Congressman Gamble, while Press Agent Mark Jones was made assistant to Senator McCarthy at the same salary. O. A. Taylor was paid $25 a day as a "committee consultant"—though actually he spent much of his time in New York.

Supposedly the press agents were hired to make an impartial study of the housing shortage. But here is how they studied it. First, it appeared that they knew little about housing; in fact, Jones virtually admitted as much to staff associates. He had to call in a specialist from the Library of Congress and two people from the agriculture department to help.

Part of the press agents' time was spent hobnobbing with such "impartial" authorities as the kingly of the real-estate lobby—Frank Cortwright, executive vice-president of the National Association of Home Builders.

Lobbyist Cortwright was so familiar a figure in the offices of Bell and Jones that clerks and stenographers knew him by name, and he made various appointments with the two press agents for meetings.

BLAMED THE CHURCHES

The joint housing committee, it should be remembered, was appointed by both branches of Congress to make a fair and comprehensive report on one of the greatest economic and social problems facing the nation. Yet the New York press agents, after hobnobbing with the real-estate lobbyists, produced a windy 400-page report which blamed "representatives of Roman Catholic, Protestant churches and Jewish synagogues" together with Community-Chest people and visiting nurses for egging on the demand for public housing.

In the end, the committee rejected the report. Thus a considerable chunk of the public's money was paid out by Senator McCarthy and Congressman Gamble for nothing.

But it was not for nothing as far as the real-estate lobby was concerned.

For, although the 400-page report was rejected in favor of a 40-page report written by fair-minded G. O. P. Senator Flinders of Vermont, Press Agent Bell managed to get his report reported as a committee "print." This meant that it was printed at public expense, though not actually representing the views of the committee.

However, since the unsuspecting public seldom knows the difference, several thousand copies of this pro-real-estate-lobby report were broadcast over the nation.

THE BACKSTAGE BOYS

The pay off as to who arranged the whole deal by which the press agents were planted inside the committee may be the names of the organizations who grabbed up the pro-lobby report and sent it out to the public. They are: the National Association of Real Estate Boards, the Mortgage Bankers association, the National Association of Home Builders, and Morton Bodfish's U. S. Savings and Loan League. (He is now under a federal indictment.)

A lot of these copies were sent out at the taxpayers' expense under the free postal frank of Congressman Gamble.

Amazing fact is that Press Agent Bell is still operating as an alleged "assistant" to Gamble, though his pay was cut off when the joint housing committee folded May 15. He now lurks behind-the-scenes at House banking and currency committee hearings on the housing bill, supplying housing foes with ammunition to fire at witnesses. That is how some congressmen play into the hands of the big lobbies in a Congress which apparently has lost its sense of smell.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Mrs. Pearl Mesta, the Oklahoma oil heiress, once a Republican but now an ardent Democrat, paid $32,000 for oil paintings of the Trumans and cabinet friends. Mrs. Mesta has had special paintings made of the President, Mrs. Truman, Margaret Truman, Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Snyder, their daughter, Drucile, and Mrs. John Steelman. . . Ed Flynn, former chairman of the Democratic national committee and intimate friend of FDR, will resign even as New York Democratic chieftains are nil. (And Ed was one of the bosses who insisted that FDR take Truman in 1944.)

JOB SITUATION IS FAVORABLE

Decline In Lumbering Offset By New Work

General improvement in the U. P. employment situation this spring is noted by the Michigan State Employment Service in its recent report.

Employment decreased in the lumbering industry, but this loss was offset by increased activity in construction, transportation, utilities, iron mining, trades and services.

Highlights in the U. P. Situation follow:

ESCANABA—Employment increased considerably during the past 30 days. The U. S. Forest Service hired an additional 60 workers for the tree planting program, and railroad companies in the area have hired additional workers for their summer repair work. Highway and residential construction firms have increased their employment rolls. A local furniture company has resumed limited operations after a shutdown of several months, and is gradually expanding its work force. Labor turnover is normal and does not constitute a problem with the larger firms in the area.

HANCOCK—Employment decreased by 265 last month—major losses were registered in logging and lumbering, with a further decline in copper mining. Slight increases were noted in construction and trade industries, and all other industries remained stable. Seasonal resumption of construction and logging and lumbering within the next 30 days will probably result in a sharp rise in total non-farm employment.

IRON MOUNTAIN—A gradual callback of men who were laid off temporarily by the major local industry was reported last month. Construction of the Iron Mountain Veterans Hospital also helped to boost employment. A few women have been recalled to a local garment factory which has not as yet resumed full operation. Employment in the construction field is expected to reach approximately 1,100 men during the summer months when the four-lane highway through the heart of Iron Mountain and the hydro-electric power dam on the Menominee River near Quinnesec will be under way. Construction may also be started on the Dickinson County Memorial Hospital.

IRON RIVER—One sawmill has discontinued production and is moving to a new location, and two others which were closed temporarily to allow the mill yard to dry have resumed operations with full crews. Railroads have recalled some of their section hands. Building construction has absorbed all skilled building trade workers, and the U. S. Forest Service has started on its spring planting schedule.

IRONWOOD—Iron mining employment increased with the start of the shipping season and the seasonal start in open pit mining. Logging operations, on the other hand, were reduced because of the spring breakup. Some pulp cutting operations, however, remained in the woods with limited crews. A trailer factory has resumed full scale production with 167 workers. Summer resorts are starting to hire maintenance and kitchen workers and will employ approximately 500 persons during the summer tourist season. Construction work has begun with only minor increases. A road paving job is being undertaken between Bessemer and Wakefield, and a road grading job from Wakefield into Wisconsin to connect with the northern Wisconsin resort area.

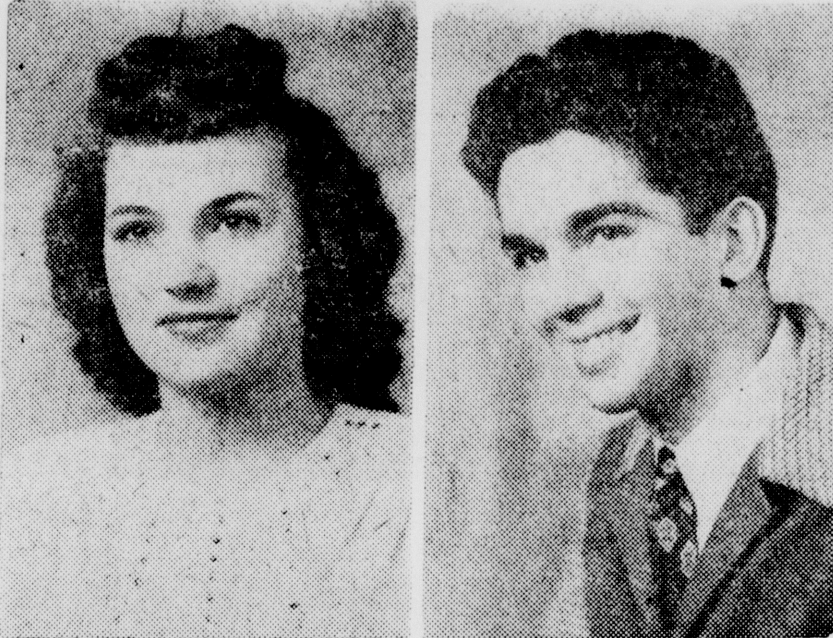

ISHPEMING—Resumption of operations at open pit mines and the shipping of iron ore has increased employment in the iron mining industry. Increased activity in building construction was also noted during April. A local women's garment factory is increasing production, creating a demand for both learners and experienced female sewing machine operators. Operations at a plant manufacturing hardwood flooring have been steady, with hiring limited to replacements.

L'ANSE—The curtailment of cutting and hauling of logs has resulted in the displacement of approximately 500 workers and produced an unsteady effect at local sawmills where short-time temporary layoffs involved small numbers of sawmill workers. In general, however, larger sawmills with reserves of logs stockpiled in their yards will maintain full crews and production. As soon as weather permits, local highway construction will add from 75 to 100 men for operations which will last all summer.

MARQUETTE—Lake shipping of iron ore got underway in early April, with tonnage exceeding the same period one year ago. Manufacturing industries are maintaining steady levels which are expected to continue for the next two months. Logging operations are still curtailed, with approximately 300 workers idle due to the spring breakup. Resumption of woods operations is expected about May 15, at least in highlands, and by June 1 in the entire area. Building construction is slowly getting under way and noticeable increases are expected in the next two months.

MENOMINEE—The seasonal slowdown in the forest products industry has led to some unemployment. While no change has occurred in the number of persons employed in construction work, a marked swing has been noted from heavy industrial construction to home building.

MUNISING—Job opportunities rose sharply in April as compared with March in construction and local mills. However, a number of layoffs were reported in woods operations, and one local mill laid off 30 workers near the end of the month. There are indications of additional layoffs for the near future. Prospects for job opportunities in May are bright. Logging camps will swing into full scale production, and the U. S. Forest Service will hire approximately 40 men for its tree planting program. Construction work to employ 40 men is expected to commence soon.

NEWBERRY—Employment began to increase after the beginning of the spring breakup, and employers in both logging and sawmill establishments are placing orders for workers. The U. S. Forest Service needs men to plant trees in the Raco-Strongs area. The unemployment compensation claim load is dropping off rapidly in this area.

SAULT STE. MARIE—Employment in the area continued to increase with the return to work last month of seasonal workers in tourist and other seasonal activities. One of the larger industries in the area which recently curtailed production and laid off nearly 100 workers has recalled more than 50 within the past two weeks.

ST. IGNACE—Tourist resort operators have contracted for the construction of new buildings and the remodeling of present structures in preparation for the summer season. The commercial fishing industry has resumed full scale operations.

Some pineapples have been known to attain a weight of 17 pounds.

Summer Holiday Season Starting; Weather And People Both Go 'Balmy'

The summertime vacation season is at hand. Starting with the Memorial Day weekend and continuing through Labor Day millions of people will be doing the things they most enjoy doing—and thousands will die and be injured in their efforts to have fun.

For the greatest handicaps to your health and even your life often result from unwisely striving for a "fun-filled" holiday or vacation. One of the first rules for successful recreation is to "take it easy."

It is haste that causes most of the summertime holiday casualties—the swimmer too hurried to determine whether the water is deep enough for a dive, the motorist too hurried to note the oncoming car at the curve, the fisherman so eager to get on the lake that he neglects taking life preservers along.

Memorial Day is a time to remember the dead, not to join them. This is a timely warning for motorists. For travel on Michigan highways is approximately 15 per cent greater than in 1947, and state police records show 1,444 persons killed and 38,195 injured in 137,619 automobile accidents last year. The accident total set a new high for the state.

Because of the anticipated heavy holiday traffic, enforcement officials recommend that motorists start earlier, drive slower, observe all of the highway markings, particularly on hills and curves, and be alert for pedestrians and cars coming out of side roads.

The "take it easy" admonition applies as well after you arrive at your vacation spot.

Don't try to get a mahogany tan in one day. Take your sunning in short intervals. Remember you can burn under a cloudy sun on a cool day, and you burn more quickly near or on water.

Swimming can be invigorating fun, and it can also be the death of you. Lake water will be cold—and deep. If it's your first swim of the year you may tire easily. Don't swim alone or try to show off. You may get your name in the paper, but you won't be around to read it.

When you go out in a small fishing boat, don't stand up. Be sure to take life preservers along just in case. And if there is a storm threatening, stay on shore. A small fishing boat handles well enough in a calm, but you'll have trouble when the wind carries you out into the big lake.

If you are on the shady side of life, don't be a heart attack casualty by over-doing. Remember that a little golfing, softball, swimming or tennis is a considerable strain on the heart at the beginning of the season.

All travelers encounter the problems of eating away from home—but there is the problem of keeping safe the food you take with you for a picnic. Be careful what you take in your picnic lunch and keep perishables cold. You can bring food poisoning from home as well as get it in an unclean restaurant.

Eating places will be filled to capacity, especially the good ones, so watch for a place where sanitation has been approved by the state rather than risk illness and possible death. Drink only water from a municipal supply and only pasteurized milk, if you want to be on the safe side.

For more vacation fun, take it easy this Memorial Day weekend and throughout the summer.

Ancient Britons Erected Temple

London—The religion of early inhabitants of England, 2,500 years ago, was apparently influenced by the culture of far-off Greece, at least in the form of its temples. Evidence of this was uncovered during the construction of London's new airport at Hounslow Heath, W. F. Grimes, director of the London Museum, states in a report which will be published in the forthcoming issue of the American journal, Archaeology.

When the site of the new airport was selected, an air survey was made to spot any possible traces of prehistoric occupancy not noticeable from the ground. The photographs clearly picked out the outlines of an earthwork once popularly known as "Caesar's camp", but in recent decades all but obliterated by cultivation.

Skimming off the surface soil with earth-handling machinery, the archaeologists found the round outlines of a group of huts, of the type built by early Iron Age inhabitants of Britain about 500 B. C. At one edge of the village group they came upon postholes and a ditch marking where a rectangular building, quite unlike the huts, had once stood.

Annual Cleanup Day

Wednesday was the day that members of the Woman's Guild of Zion Episcopal church at Wilton had marked as the annual cleanup day for the cemetery. At this time lot owners were notified to be on hand all day to work on their own lot or on the lots assigned in general. Lunch, consisting usually of a "hot" dish, salad, rolls, coffee and dessert is furnished by the Guild, without charge, to all who work in the cemetery. Some real nice work has been done each year and a drive through the cemetery will convince even the doubtful that even a hard task can be made a pleasure by working together.

The noon hour is a happy respite from outside work, judging by the well filled tables, in the Guild hall, presided over by its members.

Offer Fur-Bearing Fish As Press Contest Entry

FAMOUS HICKEN FISH—Out in Glacier National Park, reports Harry Tyrrell of Whitefish, Montana, this fur-bearing fish was caught by the late Jim Hicken. Unfortunately, the Daily Press fishing contest is open only to fish legally caught in the Upper Peninsula.

Harry Tyrrell of Whitefish, Montana, a former resident of Escanaba, isn't trying to prepetrate a hoax when he recently offered a fur-bearing Montana trout as an entry in the Daily Press fishing contest.

"If I walked in on you with one of these Hicken fur-bearing trout, what would you do?" he asks. The answer of the Daily Press fishing contest editor would probably be as follows: Sorry, but all contest entries must be caught in the Upper Peninsula. Which would rule the fur-bearing trout out of the competition.

Fished In Michigan
Tyrrell once fished in Northern Michigan. The Brule was his favorite trout stream, and he fished perch in Portage Bay.

Now he lives in Montana, where the late Jim Hicken, a train dispatcher, discovered the fur-bearing trout (now generally recognized as the famous Hicken fish) while traveling through Glacier National Park. There was a sudden drop in temperature and "Iceberg Lake" was formed.

"Several hooks were tried but were broken immediately upon touching the water," Hicken reported. "Finally one was heated, and when this hit the water, the temperature tempered the hook with the result that one of the fish was caught."

The water in this lake is so cold that nature has taken care of her own by providing the fish with a thick coat of fur. In fact, the water is so cold that it is beyond the freezing point. The beaver, a very rare specimen, is found only on Prince Edward Island and live on the hum of the hummingbird.

Put Up Big Fight
These fur-bearing fish put up a terrible fight when hooked. Their

WIL' DISCUSS SCHOOL PLAN

Stonington And Alton To Have Meetings

Two more public meetings will be held next week to explain the proposal to reorganize the Ensign, Masonville and Bay de Noc townships as a single rural agricultural school district.

The first will be held at the Stonington Grange hall Tuesday night, June 1, and the second at the Alton hall Wednesday night, June 2. Both will begin at 8 o'clock.

The study committee will present its report on the transportation set-up under the reorganization plan. A straw vote will be taken at the two meetings to determine whether a majority favors the calling of an election to vote on the proposal.

'Square' House Has A Real Homey Charm

"The Bourne," All-on-One-Floor Dwelling, Has Appearance of Cape Cod Cottage, Plan Provides for Good Circulation

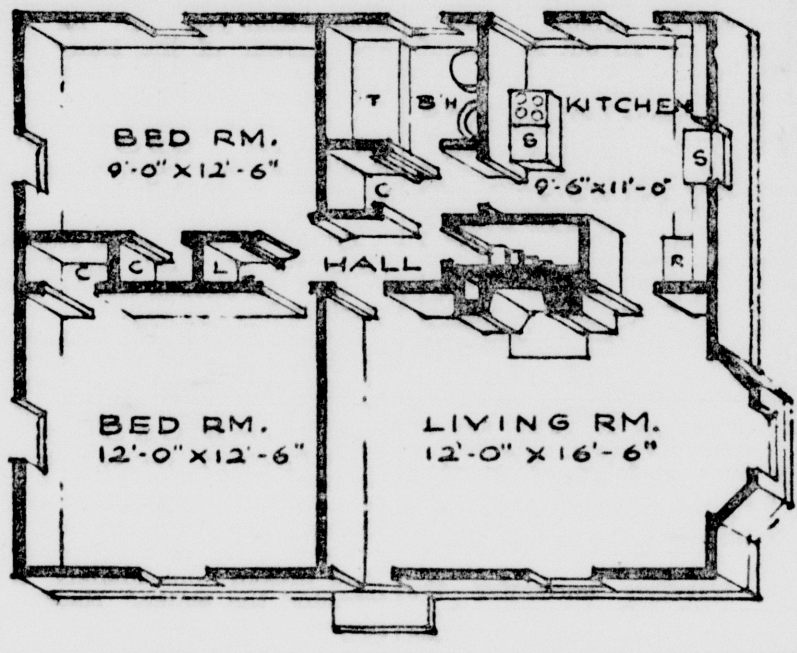

The "square" house invariably is the least expensive. But it can possess a wealth of homey charm. This is demonstrated in "The Bourne," a four-room cottage introduced by the Architects' Co-Operative Plan Service, Inc.

This all-on-one-floor home, with a 30x25 foot-over-all measurement and a cubage of 15,000 feet, has the same solid, low-setting appearance that is usually associated with the Cape Cod cottage. The floor plan provides good circulation.

Full Basement Provided

The house has a full basement, reached by a stairway leading down in back of the central chimney. If desired, the basement could be eliminated and the space now given over to the stairs converted into a utility room to accommodate a heating plant.

The house pictured is finished with grey stained shingles and a green-shingled roof. Wide, painted clap-boards could be used instead of shingles on the side walls.

ZONING HELPS AVOID 'BLIGHT'

Prospective Builder Is Advised On Codes

East Lansing, — Investigating zoning ordinances and building codes before erecting homes or business structures is good common sense, L. A. Wolfanger, extension specialist in land use planning at Michigan State College, advised today.

The specialist reports that a good ordinance and code set the standards for the community. The zoning ordinance designates the uses of lands and buildings that may be carried on in each neighborhood. The building code sets the construction standards that must be observed to protect the community against fire risks, health hazards, shoddy construction, and other dangers.

Michigan is undergoing tremendous changes in the uses of its lands, especially in the areas adjacent to cities and towns, Wolfanger states. Homes, business enterprises and industries of all kinds are springing up on lands within easy driving distance from these population centers. The kinds of land uses that develop and the kinds of buildings and structures that are erected will set the pattern and influence these communities for generations. A single mistake can blight a neighborhood for years.

Wolfanger believes that if the building boom continues, the rural areas surrounding our towns and cities will be completely transformed by the next generation. Townships located in these areas should study their conditions; work out a plan for the proper development of their resources, and then give direction to the changes that are taking place by setting up land use (zoning) and construction (building code) standards.

Plenty of Storage Space Necessary

There should be ample storage space in a home in order to adequately provide for the proper keeping of articles not in immediate use.

Bedroom or coat closets used chiefly for hanging space should be not less than 1 foot 10 inches in depth. Linen closets should be about 16 to 18 inches in depth.

While it is impossible to fix a rule for the amount of closet space that will be universally applicable, it is advisable to have at least one closet for each bedroom, a closet for linen, and one in which to hang hats and coats. Other garments are sometimes damp; consequently, the coat closet should be near the entrance door so that water and mud are not spread through the dwelling.

Efficient Kitchen

The kitchen, 9x11 feet in dimensions, has two windows and a glazed service entry door, giving the room good cross lighting and ventilation. Refrigerator, working counter and sink are aligned along one wall.

The bathroom opens from the small hall, just off the kitchen. A storage closet in this hall could be used for brooms, etc., or there is possibility of installing a broom closet just opposite the refrigerator, in the kitchen over the basement stairs.

Two bedrooms open off the inner hall, these rooms measuring 12x12.6 feet and 9x12.6 feet respectively.

Each has cross windows on two sides. There is a good sized clothes closet in each bedroom. Between the bedroom doors, opening on the hall area, there is a linen closet.

A house such as "The Bourne" should be provided with insulation over all room ceilings. A southeast to northwest exposure is also recommended for this particular cottage.

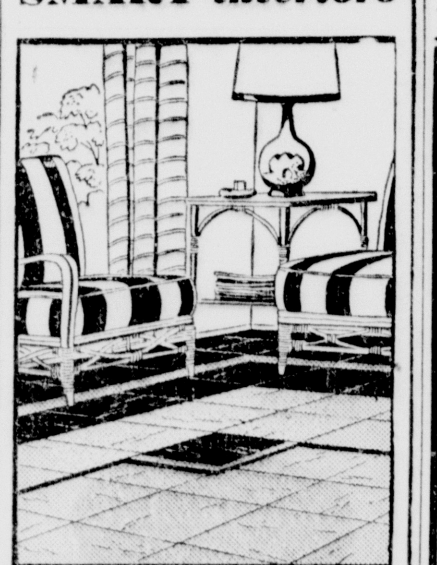

Plans Are Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house, "The Bourne," are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Escanaba Daily Press, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Electrical Outlet Near Lavatory Is Necessity

With the increasing use of electrical accessories in the bathroom, an electrical outlet at a convenient place over or near the lavatory is a necessity. The problem of providing an outlet without marring the walls of the bathroom is solved in a new medicine cabinet which has a small outlet inconspicuously placed at the edge of the cabinet.

Cork Has Natural Insulating Values

The natural insulating qualities of cork were known to Portuguese and Spanish farmers, who observed centuries ago that the cork-oak tree was able to stand the blistering winds of their locality, while other trees and plants were scorched and killed.

What these farmers later found, that when cork bark was used in the construction of their homes it helped to exclude the Summer heat and Winter cold, has since become common knowledge to builders the world over. Thus this crude form of insulation was the forerunner of a popular present-day insulating method.

Cork's ability to absorb sound and vibration and its low thermal conductivity have made it popular as an insulating and sound-deadening material. Boards made of cork, designed for installation as interior finish, are now obtainable.

Recommend Copper Gutters

Have you ever experienced that sinking feeling when you find, as you gaze out the window through one of those refreshing summer downpours, that water is pouring from the eaves and washing a veritable gully around the foundation of your house? It means a gutter is leaking—something that couldn't have happened if copper had been used for this purpose at the outset.

CAPE CODDISH in appearance but not in plan, this house, "The Bourne," is really a bungalow, with four rooms and bath on one floor.

NEW TYPE FLOORING

A new compound type of wood flooring so designed that it can be laid over any type of wood underflooring is offered home owners. The flooring is laminated and is said to reduce expansion and contraction to a minimum.

Swedetown Was Built For Swedish Miners Who Did Not Stay Long In Copper Country

BY CRESCENCE BURGUNDER

Calumet, Mich.—Up in the Copper Country when you slide slowly into Calumet over the Mineral Range tracks, you are apt to grow a little impatient during the last two or three miles. Such impatience is unnecessary once you know where to look for Swedetown.

True, most travelers do grow restless when their trains make the agonizing, gradual approach through city outskirts to their destination. What, for instance, compares in tedium to the long drag from North Chicago to the Union Station? Railroad sheds and rear ends of warehouses are monotonous sights, except perhaps to a Carl Sandburg.

But Calumet has more to offer you at journey's end in the way of wider horizons and an untrammelled, restful view, picked up with the interest of an odd past quaintly permeating the present.

Famous Swedetown Bridge
Looking out from the windows of the Milwaukee Road's Copper Country Limited along toward noon, after the train has left Hancock and puffed vigorously up to what you decide must be the top of the hill, you behold—depending on the season—either a green or white expanse of pleasant open country. Watch across the fields and thickets to the right of the train until you see a Gothic spire surmounted by a cross which seems to pierce the very sky. You will be soon rounding the houses of Osceola and shuttling through Swedetown. When the train whistles shrilly to announce its approach to the countryside at large and Calumet in particular, you may be sure of it. The spire belongs to Sacred Heart church; the whistling salute is almost all the reminder left of the famous Swedetown bridge.

No Horatius, no Macaulay, is equal in deed or in word to this architectural curiosity of a vanished decade in the copper mining era of Houghton county. Matters of memory are the bulky wooden structure, the shout of "Low Bridge" as men and trains approached. The fringe served as a mindful safety device in an earlier and more picturesque period of accident prevention.

How many lovers stood on the Swedetown bridge at midnight is incalculable, or at least the figures are unavailable. How many weary workmen hurried home to their steaming suppers of sauerkraut, stew, spaghetti, or pea soup, their boots sounding a hollow note over the wooden planks of the bridge, is another conjecture. That it was the haunt of many a small truant, too, goes without saying. Actually—to many—the bridge was Swedetown.

How Swedetown came to be when it never really was, is one of the irregularities of mining history. College professors would term it an anomaly.

Civil War Labor Shortage
The inroads of the Civil War on manpower began to have their effect in the copper mines about 1863 at a time when industrial and ordinance demands for copper kept increasing. The old mines, trying to run full force, and the new ones attempting to open opportunity's copper-plated door, were faced with a labor shortage. Even with copper up to 50 cents a pound, volunteer soldiers were easier to find than mining aspirants looking for high wages.

The search for labor recruits, as happened in history's duplicating pages so many times later, took copper company agents to Europe and eventually to Sweden. Under contract to repay their passage in installments from their earnings after reaching America, a large group of Swedish volunteers were secured, enticed by good pay and the transportation offer. About $90,000 had been subscribed by the several companies to cover the latter expense.

Meanwhile, south of Red Jacket and southwest of the later locations of Hecla and Raymbaultown, a group of log houses went up. It probably wasn't referred to as an industrial housing project but, in effect, it was. The log-houses, of two or three rooms, with a loft for storage (or tucking away the small fry who came much later), were readied for assignment to the Swedish miners expected on every boat.

The anticipated arrivals—400 strong—came at length to Portage Lake and the waiting environs. But alas! for their paternal investors. Soldiering immediately appealed more than copper mining to the newcomers' tastes. Furthermore, a bounty of $300, offered through a citizens' fund to each enlistee, proved too great an inducement.

Defying their contract, they "joined up," leaving the mine operators flat and the little log houses unoccupied.

Later on other and more representative Swedes came and went to work in the copper mines or on the surface, settling in small groups in several of the mining communities. Of these it is related they "became good citizens." The Michigan Pioneer and Historical volume of 1891 (page 880) further adds of the Scandinavian immigration: "Good, industrious, intelligent people most of them are."

The Swedish people, besides adding their numbers to the Copper Country's population in the boom years of 1880-1910, brought with them a culture that was made up of substantial homes, good cooking, colorful arts and needlecrafts, good health, loyal family life, and staunch Lutheran faith.

Swedes Built Churches
Churches were soon built and generously supported. The first original ones are not all in use today, of course. However, in the Copper Country area Swedish parishes under the present pastorate of Rev. John F. Simonson (residing at Dollar Bay) date back fifty years or more and one of the three parishes under the Rev. A. F. Salomonson—Zion Evangelical Lutheran at Skanee—was organized in 1892. Pastor Salomonson also directs Siloa Church at Ontonagon, organized in 1904, and Zion at Baraga, established in 1924.

Pastor Simonson has the First Evangelical church at Dollar Bay (1900) and the Salem church at Hancock (1899). His oldest parish is Carmel at Calumet which dates back to 1877. All of the above churches are Evangelical parishes of the Iron Mountain Lutheran Augustana Synod.

In 1947 the Swedish Carmel parish in Calumet was host to the 37th annual Superior Conference, a jurisdictional area comprising the Swedish churches of all the Upper Peninsula and Eastern Wisconsin. Brought out in the Conference records was the fact that the Copper Country still has a combined Swedish church membership of 649 adults, 244 children, in the six parishes.

Missionary groups, youth work, and educational interests are some of the Swedish Lutheran activities. The Helms and Sweds of Dollar Bay, the Olmsteads and the Stenson family of Calumet, and the Gustafsons of Hancock are among the Swedish names prominently associated with this church work. The Copper Country Lutheran Chorus, outstanding musical organization was started largely through the efforts of its first conductor, Lloyd Stenson, now of Milwaukee. Lloyd and his brothers all served their parish, too, and carried their musical talent to the Copper Country Male Choir as well. Swedish families in the Copper Country also added to the ranks of business, the professions (especially nursing), and to local government.

Many Tales of Swedetown
Carmel church today is a handsome Lake Superior sandstone structure with a simple but tasteful interior. It stands in a cluster of churches at the edge of Newtown. This location, with its reminiscent Temple Street (caught so successfully in a painting by the Calumet-Keweenaw artists, Alden L. Steck), lies between Red Jacket and Swedetown. Almost any Calumet oldtimer, whether you meet him in Trinidad or Toronto, will remember the Red Jacket-Newtown-Swedetown trio with something of nostalgic affection.

"Swedetown"—a place of marsh marigolds and blue flags and other wild flowers. Swedetown—the scene of boyish pranks and the goal of Sunday afternoon excursions. Swedetown—probably the only place in the U. S. whose rich green pasture was tended by a gold medal copper mining employee with a vocabulary in five languages (French, German, Polish, Russian, and English.) Swedetown—a place hardly at all inhabited by Swedes, but where large Irish and German and Slovenian and Finnish families neighbored in spite of boyhood scraps and athletic rivalry. (Swedetown ball players were famous in their day.) Though the existence of a school there is an unsubstantiated fact, (at this writing) two claimants—Gervin ("Saw Bones") Fraser of Calumet and Michael Rybak, now of Detroit—profess to have the only diplomas Swedetown ever conferred.

BONIFAS MAUSOLEUM—In a natural setting of Michigan pines is the Bonifas family mausoleum in Holy Cross cemetery, final resting place of William Bonifas, prominent Upper Peninsula lumberman, who died in 1936, and his wife, Catherine, whose funeral services were held Friday morning. Directly across from the landscaped grounds of the mausoleum is the beautiful Holy Cross chapel, which is now nearing completion, and which was used for the first time Friday for the committal services for its donor.

We had a fun-loving uncle in the old days, too, who used to widen our eyes with naive fear and fascination telling us of the "wild tame cats and tame wild-cats" he had bagged in Swedetown, or was going to. (What he did with the pelts is not known.) Not far from the bridge was Swedetown's chief other landmark and engineering feature: the old water-tank. I believe only fond recollection can still present it to view, but there it stood for many a day, saluted by all who knew it with affectionate familiarity. Even the iron horses who daily snorted by, hard in their tracks, seemed to give it a wink before they puffed out of sight, leaving behind gray-white clouds of smoke which ruffled across the pastel horizon.

Sunday afternoons in winter find Swedetown still has its champions among the sportsmen of all ages for it boasts one of the best natural skiing and tobogganing slopes around Calumet.

Yes, Swedetown as such may never have had an actual or incorporated existence. As a town it perhaps never quite came off. Gone are the little log houses. But the Swedetown Hill, the Swedetown Bridge, and the Swedish influence in the Copper Country are ineradicable realities. And at 5:47 p. m. every day someone in Calumet somewhere is almost sure to remark:

"There goes the Chicago train going out. Hear it whistling through Swedetown?"

Joan's Lost $50,000 Brooch Is Junk To Night Club Waiter

Hollywood, Calif., (AP)—The nightclub waiter who found Joan Crawford's diamond brooch didn't think it looked like 50,000 bucks worth.

In fact, he told police he thought it was "junk."

Miss Crawford said she missed the costly bauble when she left a night club Wednesday night. Her insurance agent, reporting it was insured for $50,000, said the brooch had 276 Baquette diamonds, plus some other jewels.

When detectives questioned employees at the night club and searched the place Thursday waiter Paul Bodlogar asked what they were after. They described the $50,000 brooch.

"Oh that!" said he. "I thought it was junk."

He explained that when he found it, he stuck it in his pocket thinking it was a piece of inexpensive costume jewelry. He gave the brooch to the detectives. They returned it to Miss Crawford.

Camera News

BY IRVING DESFOR
The Memorial Day weekend has a special message for amateur photographers which may be preserved in black and white, or color, and makes a pleasant memento for album, wallet or plain looking at.

Good parade photos test the ingenuity of the ordinary shutter-bug. After all he hasn't a Press Pass to get close-ups, but there are many ways to overcome obstacles. It means setting the thinking machine to ticking when you put a roll of film in the camera and using both at the same time.

Since X-ray film hasn't been developed to the point of selectivity where you can shoot through the backs of people and get the paraders going past, you just have to get in front of, above, below or way back of the crowd. Of course, there's no trick getting to the event so early that you are automatically in the front row of things. But if you don't you'll often find people are accommodating to a camera fan and will slip him through the mob to "take a picture." Policemen, too, can be sympathetic to an open camera especially if you make a point of finding out if they'd like a print later and taking their name and address.

An overhead view is always good. Why not take the trouble to bring a box or even a small stepladder with you? Too much of a nuisance? All right, then scan the line of march and select a likely looking reviewing stand like a store, office or building one flight up and present your self to the occupants with a polite request for camera courtesy. More than likely you'll get a good welcome. You can see I believe in a world kindly disposed to photographers.

For the ultra-strenuous there are always trees, telephone poles and cars to climb but remember (a) your precious camera climbs with you, and (b) you may have to descend a lot quicker than you went up.

Now that you have a vantage point, I hope you made sure in advance that the light is from the right direction. If, after all that trouble, you now have an unobstructed view of the sun you couldn't even look at the parade comfortably, much less photograph it. At this point if you own a magic wand you might conjure up an American flag at one side to frame your picture. It always lends the perfect symbolic touch.

Keep alert for foreground interest to make your composition individual. Just to give you an idea, one of the best parade shots

WITH A FEW "PROPS", appealing Memorial Day pictures can be shot right in your own back yard.

I recall had a soldier on crutches in front, and through the crutches could be seen the marchers. Another, with a humorous slant, showed a street cleaner watching... and waiting. And don't forget the perennial favorite of seeing all with the focus on children—absorbed, excited or exhausted.

Thinking of new angles gives me a hunch that some ex-G.I.'s in the line of march who were bitten by the photo bug, what with liberated cameras and Signal Corps experience, might be snapping the onlookers for a change.

All this spells action, so load up with the fastest film and shoot at 1/100th or faster. If your camera hasn't the fast speeds, shoot at the fastest you have, but avoid the moment when the paraders are going directly past your camera vision from one side to another. Shoot them coming towards you or going away from you.

Parade — HALT! Company — DISMISSED! And now to get our films developed and see how we made out.

AT THEIR COUNTRY HOME near Washington, D. C., are Gunnar Back, news commentator with the Columbia Broadcasting System, with his wife, Mary, and their children, Eric, 6, and Linnea, 3. Mr. Back is a former Escanaban, the son of John S. Back, 1510 Eleventh avenue north. (Reni Photos)

Gunnar Back Receives National Recognition

Gunnar Back, formerly of Escanaba and for the past few years news commentator with Columbia Broadcasting System in Washington, D. C., has received national recognition for "The Undiscovered," a special radio program which attacks the venereal disease problem.

Back, a son of John S. Back, 1510 Eleventh avenue north, Escanaba, wrote and narrated "The Undiscovered." Recently, he was assigned to also write and narrate the "City Desk" program of Station WTOP, which is the CBS outlet in the national capital.

"The Undiscovered" won second place in the first annual local programming competition conducted by Billboard magazine, and was highly praised in articles appearing in Pathfinder magazine and the Washington Times-Herald.

Back is now regarded as a leading authority on the use of tape-recording in news and feature programs. He has covered many special events with the recording, including airplane crashes, the Empire Building collapse, and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at midnight, where he recorded a stirring description.

Interviewed Syphilis Victims

Striking out on their own in Washington where the V. D. rate is one of the highest for cities of its size, Station WTOP and the District Health department are presenting a 13-week series, Pathfinder magazine stated recently. Called "The Undiscovered," the frank commentaries are directed to those who might be infected without knowing it. At the end of each program, the announcer gives a phone number that listeners may call anonymously for information and advice.

The first program brought no immediate rush of calls. But in two days the medical authorities had answered 46 queries, including one crank. And 7.5 per cent of new admissions at the city's V. D. clinics said they had heard the program.

Carting recording equipment, Newsman Back had been visiting hospitals since last November to interview syphilis victims. From the ten reels—five hours of tape recordings—he whittled a few minutes' worth of interviews for the first broadcast.

"We try to talk in specific terms," Back said, "but we have to decide how far we can go. The kind of people we want to talk to might be easily repulsed."

Even though the recordings are screened of offensive language, WTOP thinks interviewing syphilis victims is one of the most daring ideas ever tried in radio.

Born In Escanaba

A Washington Times-Herald columnist, commenting on the unusual background, gives the following background material on Back:

Back (whose full name is Johan Gunnar Back) is well known around the capital, of course. He has been giving Washington news broadcasts since 1939.

He is a rather serious-minded man who was born in Escanaba, Mich., Aug. 9, 1907, of Swedish-Finn stock. The Swedes-Finns are the Swedes who live on the western coast of Finland, descendants of the early settlers who came over in the 13th century. For a long time Finland was under Swedish rule.

The name Back is a contraction of Soderback, which means south hill.

As a boy Gunnar was much in the woods and on the water. He organized the Timber Wolf Tribe of the now-extinct Lone Scouts of America and he avidly read Jack London, James Oliver Curwood and Ernest Thompson Seton. So avidly, indeed, that he and Dr. A. S. Kitchen's son, decided they would follow Seton's instructions as to how to tan leather and make moccasins.

Looking about for some leather to tan they found the doctor's bearskin rug. Seton said you had first to bury the hide, to loosen the hairs. So they buried it—in the deep mud down by Butcher's creek.

"Suddenly we realized that hide was already tanned."

And they never went back. Doc Kitchen never knew, for sure, where his rug went. Or there might be other hides tanned, too.

Gunnar Back worked his way through the University of Wisconsin, writing stories of Wisconsin actors—Tracy, MacMurray, O'Brien, March and, over and over again, Ameche, for movie magazines. Before going to the university, he taught rural school at Watson, north of Escanaba. He received his M. A. degree in 1931 and later went into radio at Madison, Minneapolis, Lincoln, Neb., Palm Beach, Fla., and Detroit, before settling down in Washington.

State Gets $92,800 Found in Basement

Philadelphia, (AP)—The state of Pennsylvania has been awarded the $92,800 found in a south Philadelphia cellar March 15, 1947.

The money was ordered turned over to the state in escheat by common pleas court Judge Eugene V. Alessandrini.

The court's order, handed down on a motion to dismiss the claims of the state-appointed escheator, B. Graeme Frazier, stated money "placed in the cellar of a private home, under such circumstances, is most probably the fruit of some illicit venture, of a nature such as to deter the owner from openly asserting his claim thereto."

Benjamin Lieberman, a $75-a-week bookkeeper, found the money in a cardboard box in the cellar of his home while looking for a light bulb.

Dollar Today Worth Only 59 Cents In 1940 Buying Power

Washington, (AP)—The cost of living—on which the new General Motors wage agreement is based—is now 69 percent higher than 1940.

That means a dollar will buy now only what 59 cents could buy in 1940. Figures on the cost of living are issued monthly by the labor department's bureau of labor statistics. It's known as the cost of living index. The bureau has employees in 56 cities. Every month they check on the price of things families buy, like food, clothing, rent, fuel, furnishings. In this way the government keeps a check on whether living costs are rising or falling, and how much.

General Motors and the United Automobile Workers (CIO) agreed to take 1940 as a starting point in figuring how much living costs have risen. The year 1940 was the beginning of boom times in this country, with full employment and peak production. Since 1940 living costs have gone up steadily. The biggest jump started after OPA collapsed in the summer of 1946. Between June 15, 1946 and now living costs have risen 27 per cent. But the total rise since 1940 is 69 percent.

General Motors now has given the auto workers a raise—part of which is based on the rise in living costs in the past year. Three months from now—on Sept. 1—the union and the company will talk about wages again. If, in that time living costs have dropped, the company can tell the union it wants to take back some of the raise it has just given.

Masquers Fete
Senior Class In Annual Banquet

Around a T-shaped banquet table, decorated in the National Thespian Society colors, blue and yellow, twenty-seven Manistique masquer members, their sponsor, Marvin Fredericksen, Mrs. Fredericksen and the special speaker, Carl Olson, principal of Manistique high school, gathered Thursday night, May 27, in the high school for the traditional Masquer farewell banquet to the seniors.

This year seven seniors are leaving the Masquers and Thespian Troupe 636, namely: Helen Hambeau, Angela Frankovich, Joan McNamara, Ruth Martinson, Dan Giovannini, Fred MacGregor, and Wesley Schubring. During the banquet program, each senior member was honored with a farewell speech by members of the National Thespian Society.

Carl Olson spoke to the group concerning the valuable asset dramatics adds to a school, community, and those taking it. Following his inspirational talk, John McNamara, president of the Masquers, bestowed upon Mr. Olson the honor of Honorary Thespian. Helen Hambeau also gave a short speech of appreciation from the Masquers to Mr. Fredericksen. The presentation of the evening was the giving of the best Thespian award to Dan Giovannini, senior and Thespian member, by Mr. Fredericksen. This honor is bestowed once a year to one member of the National Thespian troupe who the sponsor feels has qualified for the award through his work, cooperation, and dependability. Mr. Fredericksen was master of ceremonies.

Memorial Day Should Be "Memory Day"

In this busy world we are all too often so engrossed with our own very personal business and social affairs that we fail to consider what has been done for us to establish and maintain our country as a land of freedom and opportunity. For that reason we should pause on Memorial Day long enough to attend the patriotic exercises and take stock of our wonderful heritage. It is our duty to do so.

LONG JOURNEY HOME

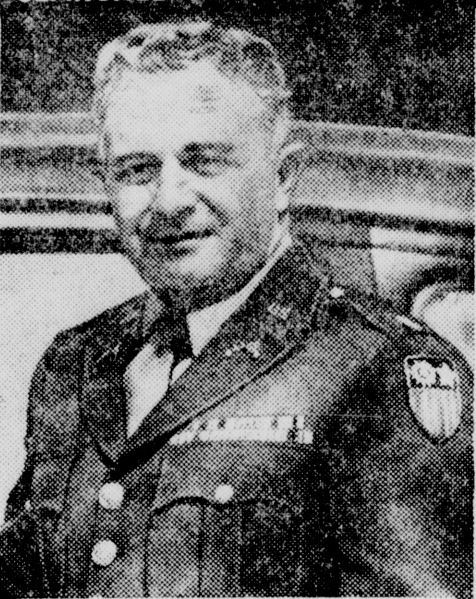

INTO some of the world's most remote spots have gone Americans to seek the remains of other Americans who have perished in World War II. These hardy, peacetime searchers were members of the American Graves Registration Service working in the India-Burma Zone under the command of Lt. Col. E. T. Stanford-Blunden with headquarters at Camp Knox, Calcutta, India. Their work, started in 1946 and now completed, included the recovery of the bodies of victims of air crashes "Over the Hump," that wild, mountainous area which separates China from India; of those who were killed with Merrill's Marauders and Mars Task Force in Burma; of the men who were executed by the Japs in Borneo and Java and the nearby islands; as well as the casualties of the USS Houston who were buried in that area.

The job was a long, painful one, necessitated week-long treks by jeep and on foot into thick, malaria-infested jungles. Information given the AGRS men to guide them to the spot was oftentimes sparse and misleading—a hill native had heard a plane crash somewhere in the area, or a passing plane had spotted what appeared to be the wreckage of a plane—but the searches went on despite all hardships and were generally successful. The bodies as well as articles to establish identification were carefully carried back to camp. Full military honors were tendered at the temporary reburial before shipment home to the States. The last of these—some 3,000—left Calcutta in April on the transport SS O'Connell, are expected in San Francisco in time for Memorial Day observances. These exclusive pictures from the personal album of Lt. Col. John J. Gussak of New York were taken by him on some of the AGRS trips in the Assam area which he covered.

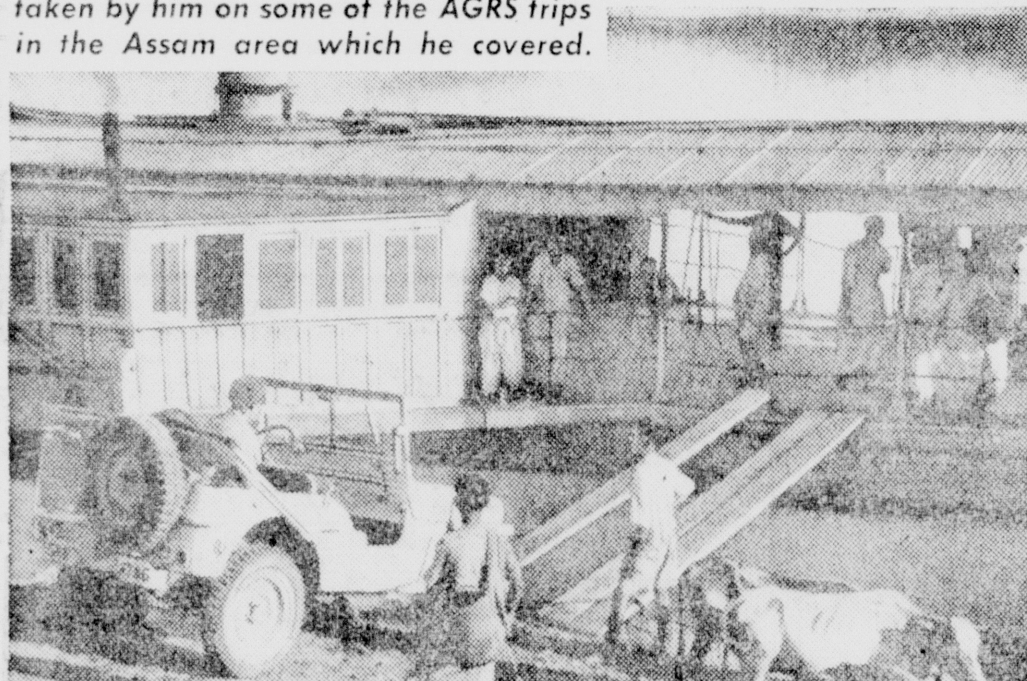

A SOLDIER'S FAREWELL. Sgts. Tom Kauppi and C. E. Manby of the American Graves Registration Service fire a last salute at Jorhat, Assam, over the remains of the U.S. victims of a wartime Dafla hills plane crash in the India-Burma theater. The bodies were later sent to Calcutta for temporary burial, then returned to the States.

SEARCHED FOR WAR DEAD

PHOTOGRAPHER. At war's end, Maj. John J. Gussak, New York lawyer, who saw active duty in World Wars I and II, volunteered for duty with American Graves Registration Service, took pictures and supervised searches for remains of U.S. war dead in Assam area. Above: Gussak, now a Lieutenant-Colonel, on return to civilization; below: he presented a different picture during one of his trips.

START of long journey was fairly easy, as AGRS jeep boards Brahmaputra river ferry. Later, when the going became rough, jeeps had to be left behind.

INFORMATION WANTED! On road to Shillong, Sgt. Manby checks information of a crashed U.S. plane against a map with Indian natives who were found generally to be cooperative.

HARD PULLING. With Naga tribesmen tugging in front and pushing from behind, Sgt. Manby gets out of mud after crossing Mokokchung river.

TOUGH GOING. Into the jungle go the Dafla porters on foot carrying wicker baskets containing food and equipment. Goal: 50 miles away.

RIVER TRAIL. Sgt. Manby and Dafla porters walk along the rock bed of the Pama river to reach the land trail which led up once more into the jungles. It meant a five-mile river hike before they found the trail again.

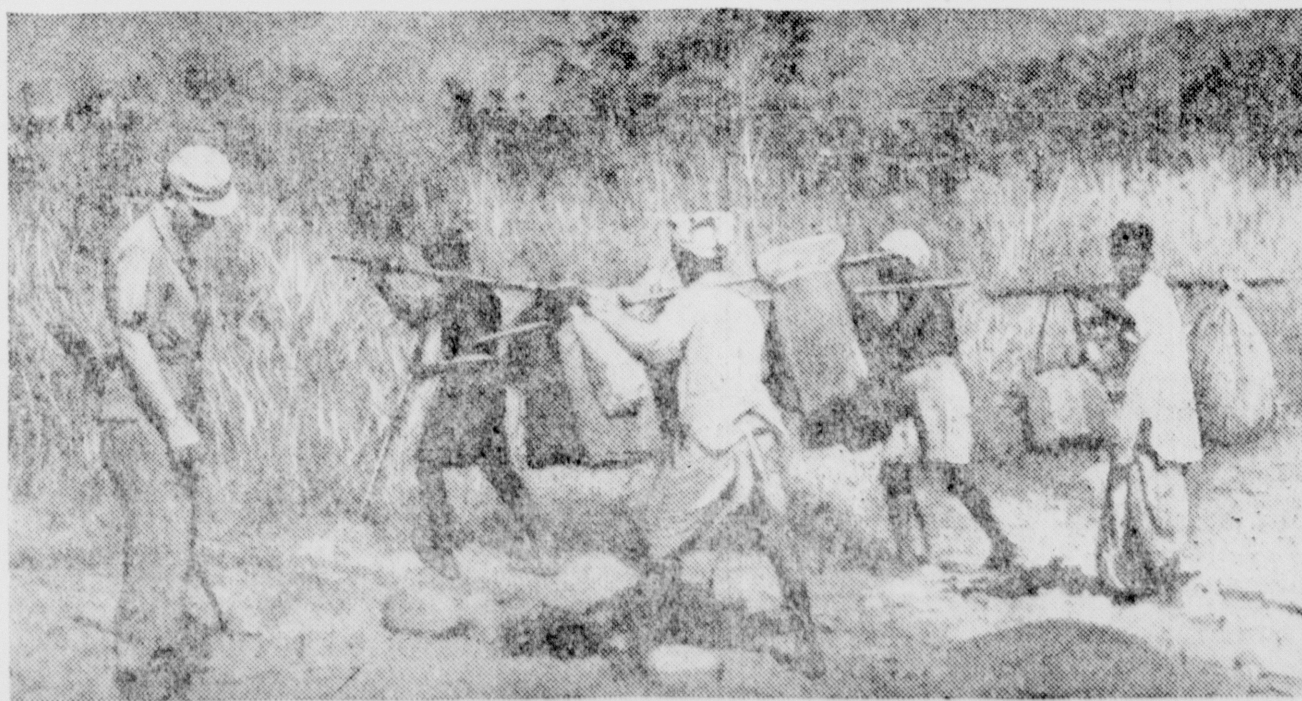

TIME OUT TO EAT. In jungle clearing along road to Tibet, the Mishmi porters stop to cook noonday meal of rice for the Americans. Natives only drank tea. Their main meals were in morning and evening.

CIGARETTE RATIONS. At one of the few villages found along the way, Sgt. Manby, refreshed, hands out cigarettes to native porters.

HITTING THE TRAIL. Led by Sgt. Kauppi, the Hindu porters head for the Bhutan hills. From this point, it took the party three days to reach spot where a plane had crashed killing seven men.

TRIP'S END! After tough 15-day march in Subansiri area, party found wreckage of transport in which 21 died. Maj. Gussak signals passing plane.

Bubble-Boats Will Race Across Lake Michigan July 3

Sheboygan, Wis. (AP)—The bubble-boat fleet will make its Lake Michigan crossing a race this year. The rubber life rafts will set out July 3 from Pentwater on the Michigan shore for a 65-mile jaunt to Sheboygan. Instead of crossing in close formation as last year, they will compete for individual honors in a double race across the lake.

Ben Locke, chairman of arrangements, says competition in one division will be for large seven- and ten-man rafts.

Smaller craft will compete in another group.

All are powered by outboard motors. The Sheboygan Naval Reserve division's PC 1237 will patrol the course.

Rough weather eliminated most of the rafts last year before they. The cow belongs to a herd owned by Sheboygan.

Connie Mack Has Found A Relief Hurler In Nelson Potter

By Ben Phlegar
(P) Sports Writer

Connie Mack, whose luck seems to be all good for a change this year, apparently has found the relief man he wants in the veteran Nelson Potter.

Mr. Mack's Philadelphia Athletics figure to have just about the best pitching staff in the American League. But Connie wanted an experienced man to play fireman when one was needed.

The script called for Russ Christopher, once the A's starting ace, to play this role. Christopher balked. He wanted starting jobs or nothing. So Christopher was sold to the Cleveland Indians where he wound up as a relief man.

A couple weeks ago the Athletics bought Potter from the St. Louis Browns in a straight cash deal. The chunky righthander performed for the A's from 1938 to 1941 with little success. This season he hadn't done much and had a sore shoulder.

Strictly a starting pitcher with the Browns ever since 1943, Potter has been used three times by Philadelphia, always in relief. He worked once in a losing cause then saved a game for Joe Coleman.

Last night in Shibe Park against the New York Yankees he clinched the job. He entered the game in the fifth with two on and none out. He escaped without a run and from then on the Yanks couldn't move past first.

In all, Potter gave up only two hits and received credit for the 6-3 victory. It was the sixth in a row for the A's who maintained their one game first place margin over the Cleveland Indians.

Cleveland stayed right behind by whipping the Chicago White

Sox, 2 to 0 in Chicago. Don Black and Christopher gave up only five hits but were in trouble several times. On three occasions the Sox loaded the bases but failed to score.

The Boston Red Sox slipped to seventh place again by losing to the Senators, 2-1, in Washington. A seventh inning rally brought the St. Louis Browns a 5-4 victory over Detroit and moved them to within three percentage points of the fourth place Tigers.

In the National League the St. Louis Cardinals increased their first place lead to three full games over the New York Giants, although rain shortened their game in Pittsburgh to a 1-1 six-inning tie.

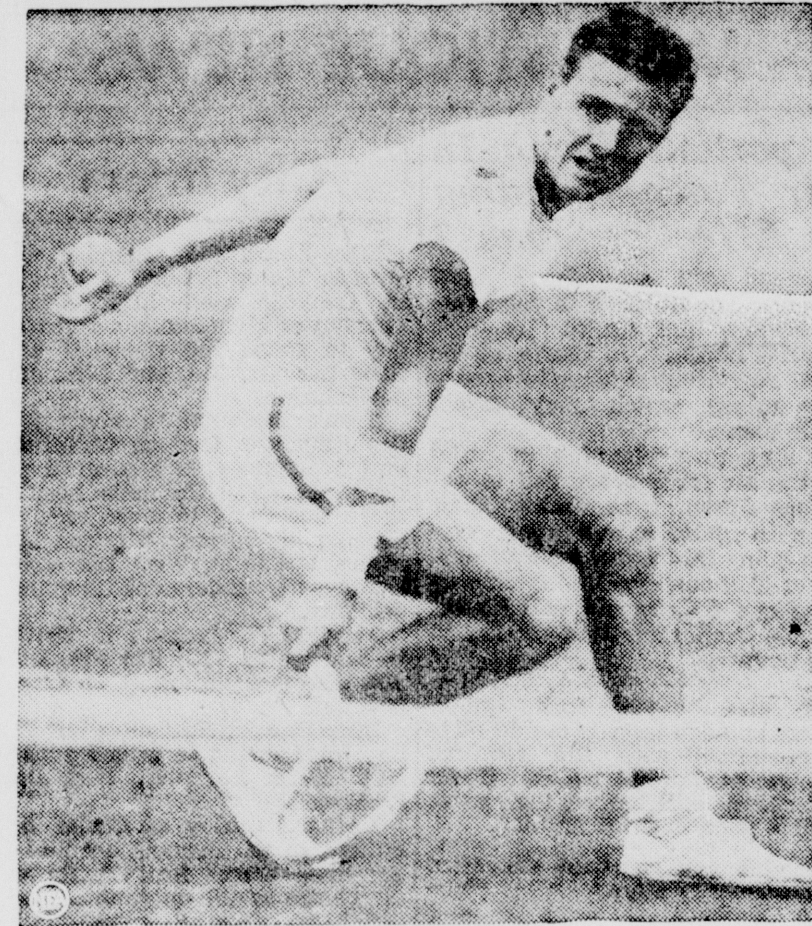

The Giants couldn't handle the Philadelphia Phils in the Polo grounds and lost, 6 to 3. New York Manager Mel Ott announced he was playing the game under protest after a ninth inning argument, but the dispute involved an umpire's judgment and the protest isn't likely to get anywhere.

Umpire Art Gore ruled that Emil Verban held a thrown ball long enough to force a runner at second base. The ball then bounded away. The Giants said he didn't.

The Brooklyn Dodgers finally caught up with the Boston Braves and beat them, 7 to 5, in Boston. It was the first time the Dodgers had turned the trick in the last nine games between the two clubs.

Hank Sauer hit his 11th and 12th home runs and Grady Hatton and Johnny Wyrostek chipped in with four baggers for the Cincinnati Reds against the Chicago Cubs, but the long blows weren't enough. The Cubs came from far behind and nosed out the Reds, 10 to 8, at Cincinnati.

Ted Schroeder

DAVIS CUP DEFENDER—With Jack Kramer a professional, this backhand and Ted Schroeder's attacking game will play an even more important role in the defense of the Davis Cup at Forest Hills in September.

Softball Champions Clash Here Sunday

Bengals, Benton Belted By Browns In 5 to 4 Battle

St. Louis, May 29 (P)—The Detroit Tigers first division berth was at stake today as they met the St. Louis Browns in the second encounter of their three-game series.

The Browns cut the Tigers' fourth place margin to three percentage points last night by nipping the Bengals 5 to 4.

Another Brownie win today would put them in fourth place and drop the Tigers to fifth.

The Detroiters called on Virgil Trucks (3-1) to protect their lead, while Sam Zoldak (2-2), a left hander, got the nod for the Browns.

Timely hitting by Al Zarilla and Paul Lehner played a big part in the St. Louis win last night. But errors by Catcher Bob Swift and starting pitcher Art Houtteman also aided the Brownie cause.

The hard-looked Houtteman was touched for eight hits in his five inning workout and was the victim of a three-run outburst by St. Louis in the fourth. Al Benton finished up and was charged with the loss.

Fred Sanford started for St. Louis, but retired during a four-run rally by the Tigers in the sixth inning. Frank Biscan took over and was the winning pitcher.

Big Nine Studying Athlete Aid Under NCAA Sanity Code

Madison, Wis., May 29 (P)—Big Nine athletic chiefs, slated to meet a full day, sought to iron out an athletic scholarship program and football schedules for 1950-51 as their business meeting closed today.

Formation of a scholarship program to aid needy athletes within the scope of the NCAA's so-called "sanity code" yesterday developed a deadlock among the conference athletic directors and faculty representatives.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

BY JIM WARD

Escanaba should be proud to be host to the annual Upper Peninsula championship high school track and field meet, and every courtesy should be extended to the 300 young athletes and their coaches, parents and friends from 36 communities in the U. P. who are here today.

Escanaba has reputation for friendliness. But it is not something that exists without a little effort on the part of its residents. Everything possible should be done to make the visit of these fine young men and their teachers and friends a pleasant one.

Just a friendly smile, a courteous answer and a congenial manner that says unmistakably you're glad to see them in Escanaba. That's all! And when they go home tonight to all points in the peninsula, they'll say: "We sure had a swell time in Escanaba!"

Cuff notes: In answer to a recent query, we have it straight from the horse's mouth (in this case, the Detroit Tiger publicity office) that Pat Mullin is no relation to George Mullin, Tiger pitcher of 1907. Frank Schmeiberg, who died a few days ago in Milwaukee, used to play baseball for Gladstone back about 1912 when they had a league composed of Escanaba, Menominee, Marinette and Gladstone. Anyone around here now who played in that league?

Tom Bonino, athletic director and coach at DeLaSalle in Detroit, used to perform in track at Wakefield high school in this Upper Peninsula. His track team recently won the Parochial championship. And Bonino is happy to be associated with a champion. By his own admission, he was not a good track man at Wakefield or at St. Mary's of Winona, Minn.

Benny Montcalm, Munising's great little athlete, is glad the gymnasts of the University of Illinois extension school at Navy Pier, Chicago, came to Northern Michigan College in Marquette for an exhibition. Benny is some punnikums as a gymnast himself. In fact, he performed with the Illinois and it led to a job as assistant physical education director at the University of Illinois extension school at Navy Pier, Chicago. He'll go there after he picks up his NMCE sheepskin next month.

Escanaba bowlers are not proud of the fact they brought home only $92.50 from the 1948 U. P. pin tourney in Marquette. The total melon was $5,756. Escanabans won $27.50 in team competition, $41.50 in doubles and $23.50 in singles. In the team event, Liberty Loan was 20th with 2,622 for $17.50. Arcadian's were 41st with 2,544 for $10.

In doubles, the performance was a little better. Ernie Vanlerberghe and Augie Gaffner hit 1,098 for 35th place and a $10.50 check. Johnny Boyle and M. O'Brien were 1,096 for 39th place and a $10 check. Other Escanaba duos who finished in the money were Ray Wahowak and Harry Gaffner, 1,095, 40th place, $9.50. D. and E. Nelson, 1,080, 63rd place, $7.50, and L. Smith and E. Benard, 1,063, 81st place, $4.

For some unexplainable reason Escanabans were weak in singles, only three finishing in the money. Johnny Boyle was high man in 57th place with his $79, good for a $9 check. Which is nice going for John because he hasn't been bowling regularly this season. Harry Gaffner hit 573 good for 68th place and $8, and Ed Martensen came through with a 568 good for 87th place and $6.50. And that's it. $92.50 in all. But don't tell anybody!

Escanaba Junior Ball Slate Opens Tuesday

The Escanaba Junior Baseball league, with 13 teams entered, will swing into its 1948 schedule Tuesday afternoon with games at Royce and Webster parks.

Feldstein Jewelry will play Anderson & Bloom at Royce and Coyne's Garage will play Coan's Grocery at Webster. Both games will be played after school, as will all games next week except the Saturday schedule.

Michigan, Illini Nines Deadlocked For Big '9' Lead

Chicago, May 29 (P)—Victories by both Michigan and Illinois over their respective opponents today would leave them co-champions of the Big Nine baseball season.

The Illini's hope for an undisputed pennant was crushed yesterday as Ohio State took an upset triumph 6-0 at Columbus. Michigan, meanwhile, romped over hapless Northwestern 9-0.

This term of events left Michigan and Illinois with 9-2 records entering their final conference games today against the same foes.

ABC FINALE TONIGHT

Detroit, May 29 (P)—The 80-day American Bowling Congress tournament winds up tonight when the last of 14,018 doubles teams and 27,965 individual entries complete their schedule.

Menominee, Local Tillists Battle In Memorial Feature

Ed's Super Market, Menominee's outstanding softball team, visits Escanaba Sunday night to play the Escanaba Taverns at Memorial Field at 8:30 o'clock. Ed's Market has won both the Menominee League championship and the Twin City championship for the last two years and Manager Ken Reinko claims to have another powerhouse under his direction again this season.

It will be champion against champion here Sunday night inasmuch as the local Taverns annexed the city crown last year by winning the city tournament. Although both nines carry capable pitchers, they also have quite a few heavy hitters and fans should see plenty of action around home plate before the evening is over.

Manager Cliff Beaudin, Jr. of the Taverns will start either Louie Kostitzke or Job Anderson on the mound and Bobby Anderson will receive. In the infield will be Bob Boyle at first, Ed Gauthier at second, Mickey Kuchenberg at third, and Scoop McDonald at short, and Tom Dufour at left field, with Mark Valind in center, and Kippy Derouin in right.

Manager Reinko of Ed's Market will choose his pitchers from the following: Frank Brown, Jim Kluidin, and Bud Payne. Bob Peters will catch and the infield will be made up of Ozzie Laabs at first, George Girard at second, John Nault at third, and Herb Johnson at short. Bob Desjardins, Hank Paris, and Bill Surk will round out the starting nine.

The end of the first week's play in the local softball competition finds People's Bar and the NuWay Cleaners on top of the American league. The National league lead is held by three teams—Sakyllys, Clairmont Transfer, and the K. of C.

The Delta Hardware scored the upset of the week last Monday

Last Minute Battle For Starting Posts In Indianapolis Race

Indianapolis, May 29 (P)—Twelve to 25 cars will scramble from noon to sundown today for three remaining spots in the lineup for the 32nd Annual 500-Mile race Monday.

Some of the 30 previous qualifiers were not too secure and three cars bettered their qualifying speeds.

It was the biggest last-minute battle for starting positions in Indianapolis motor speedway history.

Something always is the biggest or fastest of strangest happenings in the history of America's noisiest sports event.

Last year's novelties were the drivers' strike, settled the week of the race, and the first one-two team victory by Mauri Rose and Bill Holland.

This year's race seems likely to be unique on several counts. The original entry list of 80 cars was the biggest ever. Sixty-five cars actually reached the track and that also was a record. The big field resulted in an unprecedented shortage of drivers, with the better known pilots just about having their pick of cars.

Monday's show will draw some 150,000 spectators and they may see the fastest of the 32 races. Qualification speeds indicated a half-dozen cars had the stuff to beat Floyd Roberts' record of 117.2 miles an hour that has stood since 1937.

night when they defeated the Paper Mill, mainly on the strength of Ernie Vanlerberg's pitching and a home run by Eddie Fish. People's Bar grabbed the driver's seat in the fast league with well-deserved victories over Larmays and the Delta Hardware. The NuWay Cleaners established themselves as championship contenders with a convincing win over Larmays.

The formal opening of Memorial field will be held Tuesday night, and appropriate ceremonies are being arranged. The V. F. W. will meet the Kaysees in the preliminary at 7:30 and the Paper Mill clashes with the Taverns in the feature contest at 8:45. On Wednesday night the big game at the lighted field brings together the Delta Hardware and NuWay Cleaners. The outstanding contest Thursday night is at Memorial Field with the Paper Mill and People's Bar furnishing the action.

The National league schedule for next week is somewhat curtailed because of end-of-the-year school activities at St. Joseph's and Escanaba high school.

Shut-In Boy, 9, Gets Preview Of Parade

Memorial Day Units Go To Lad's Home First

Westbrook, Me., May 29 (AP)—Plucky David Gagnon, nine, can't go to the Memorial Day parade but parade units are going to go to him—first.

David is resting at home between hospital treatments for burns that necessitated more than 100 operations in the last 25 months.

From a window of his parents' River street home he recently heard distant music of the Catholic Action Crusaders' drum and bugle corps practicing for the Monday march.

He asked Drum Major Victor J. Ledoux if the musicians could "march by my house on the way to the parade so I can see them?" Ledoux thought he could arrange that—and more.

The next night the uniformed Crusaders marched by the little boy's window "reviewing stand" and brought smiles to his face with their martial music.

It's been a nightly performance since in good weather.

The municipal parade marshal heard of David and his wish. He lined up Company D, 103rd Infantry combat team, of the National Guard; a platoon of police and his aides.

They'll all march by David's house an hour before the parade's scheduled start, and there may be more organizations signed up before the holiday.

Southwest Chicago Apartment Blaze Kills Six Persons

Chicago, May 29. (AP)—Six persons, including two children, perished and one man suffered serious injuries in a fire early today, which swept a three-story apartment building on the city's near southwest side.

An undetermined number of persons fled from the building, located at 2014 South California avenue.

The bodies of a 12 year old girl, a four year old boy and an unidentified woman were found in a stairwell on the second floor of the building. Two other bodies, both unidentified men, were found in a third floor room. A third unidentified man's body was found in the stairwell on the third floor.

Fire Marshal Anthony Mullaney said the fire apparently started in a shed at the rear of the building and spread to the rear porches and through all seven apartments.

Boy Has Big Party For 12th Birthday, Probably His Last

Atlanta, Georgia (AP)—Courageous Lamar Clark Friday had everything he had ever asked for after "the best birthday party a boy ever had."

About 1,000 well-wishers joined him last night in celebrating his twelfth—and probably last—birthday. Doctors say his cancer is incurable and that he has only a short time to live.

So officials of the Exposition Cotton Mills, where his parents work, staged the mammoth birthday party.

There was tub after tub of pink lemonade, more than 200 ornate cakes, a telegram of congratulations from Gov. M. E. Thompson, a frisky brown pony and saddle, a Pekinese puppy, and "more presents than you could put in a truck."

Officers Help With Baby-Sitting, Then Take Father to Jail

New York, N. Y., (AP)—Two detectives brought in their man Thursday—but only after they'd found him in a three-hour baby-sitting task.

The officers, John Tracy and Edward Gillen, investigating the burglary of a candy store, nabbed their suspect in his Bronx home.

Kenneth Connors, 26, admitted the burglary, police said. But he told the detectives he'd be unable to accompany them to the police station. His wife, he explained, had gone to the movies, leaving him to care for their infant daughter.

The officers shared the baby-sitting task. Three hours later, the wife returned and Connors was taken to the station house where he was booked on a burglary charge.

LULU GETS LOST

New York, May 29 (AP)—Somewhere deep in the liner Queen Elizabeth, there is a Persian cat named Lulu.

It belongs to Sir Oliver Franks, New British ambassador to the United States. When Sir Oliver left Southampton last Saturday aboard the vessel, Lulu was placed in one of the animal cages. The following Monday morning Lulu was gone.

RETURNS TO MOSCOW

Berlin, May 29. (AP)—Ambassador Walter B. Smith left by plane today to return to his post in Moscow. Smith, who has been on a fishing holiday in France, stopped over for two days as a guest at the home of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor in Germany.

OWOSSO STORE BURNS

Owosso, Mich., May 29 (AP)—Damage estimated at $50,000 resulted from a fire in a downtown three-story building yesterday.

MRS. HAYDEN AND MOGIE — Mrs. Ralph Hayden, jr., of 41 Brook Road, Sharon, Mass., and Mogie, her Weimaraner, are shown here on the grounds of the Hayden home. Mrs. Hayden will be re-elected in Escanaba as Margaret Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brooks of Houghton. She is a charter member of the Weimaraner club and one of the first in this country to own one of the select breed.

Mrs. Ralph Hayden, jr., Charter Member of Weimaraner Club

Rapidly growing is the interest among dog owners in the United States in the Weimaraner, aptly described by Jack Baird of Moxgated Acres, Wappingers Falls, N. Y., as the "gray ghost" who has come out of yesterday to bid for tomorrow's fame in field, obedience and bench circles.

This breed, which has been given its "gray ghost" appellation not so much because of the sheen of its beautiful coat as its ability to work silently and surely, is 135 years old but is a newcomer to this country. In fact, it was admitted to American Kennel club recognition late in 1942 and was first shown at the 1943 Westminster.

Talk to the owner of a Weimaraner for five minutes or to someone who has seen the dog in the field, on the bench or just as a member of the family and you probably will say to yourself, "I'm going to have a Weimaraner." But it's not quite so simple.

You must be a member of the Weimaraner club to possess one and you must give your pledge to follow implicitly the rules of the club to guard against lowering the standards of the breed.

Mrs. Ralph Hayden jr., of Sharon, Mass., who is the former Margaret Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brooks, of Houghton and a niece of Theodore F. Kessler and Nick Kessler, is the owner of a Weimaraner, Ch. Grafmar's Crescendo CD, or Mogie.

Mrs. Hayden is a charter member of the Weimaraner club.

Wins Championship

In a letter received in reply to a request for information about the breed, she writes:

"The first time we saw a Weimaraner was in 1941 at a dog show in Framingham, Mass. We knew immediately that we had to own one. About a year later we bought a male puppy whose dam was one of the original imported dogs and whose sire was a first generation in this country. He proved to be an excellent specimen and I showed him to his championship in 1947. While he was being shown in breed he was also being trained in obedience. The day he won his championship he also won top score in obedience with a score of 99 out of a possible 100 to prove that he had brains as well as beauty. At present he is being trained to track and again is proving his native ability."

"The Weimaraner club was formed in February, 1943, and at that time there were only about fifty dogs in the country. The primary purpose of the club is to foster the breeding of Weimaraners which are true to the standard and that produced such outstanding hunting dogs in Germany and Austria for so many years."

"You can appreciate that with so few dogs as a beginning stock it would be very easy for the quality to deteriorate if careful breeding standards were not maintained. Every member is pledged to refuse cross breeding with other breeds and to adhere to the club standards when matching dogs for breeding purposes. It appears that we have been successful as the dog is rapidly becoming increasingly popular as a hunting dog. We are now on the lookout for top quality stock that can be imported."

"Part of the Family"

"My dog," Mrs. Hayden continues, "is an excellent companion and is very much a part of our family. Quite frankly we have never owned a dog that suited us so well."

The Weimaraner came into existence about 1810 and was brought about by the desire of the nobles of the Court of Weimar, in Germany, for a highly personalized hunting dog as distinctive in appearance as it was practical in value. The breed was to have been Germany's own, never to be let outside its borders, and never developed for the commercial market.

Once the breed was established it was never changed. The club, bound by the hard and fast rules that exist today, was established. Breeders could neither sell, trade nor give away Weimaraner stock without the approval of breed wardens appointed in each district, who passed on the worth of each litter. Even then the dogs must go into the hands of a person admitted to membership in the Weimaraner club and pledged to its high ideals of sportsmanship and clean programs of breeding.

To Grafmar Kennels

Howard Knight, Providence, R. I., advertising man and internationally known sportsman, was the first to break down the brick wall of written and unwritten laws of the breed. On October 7, 1928, he obtained Cosack and Lotte, and later enough breeding stock for a 10-year program. The first litter born in this country was to Aura von Gaiberg November 29, 1938. These and subsequent litters were hunting dogs for Mr. Knight and his close friends.

Mr. Knight later turned his entire stock over to the Grafmar Kennels of Gus and Margo Horn at Hopkinton, Mass., where the development and breeding of the Weimaraner, in which he was so deeply interested, could be handled under the most ideal conditions.

The story of the Weimaraner from that point on is history in the making, a history in which lovers of purebred dogs are going to find more enjoyment and interest as the years go on.

Fonville, Gordien Break Loop Marks In Shot And Discus

Madison, Wis., May 29 (AP)—Two new records—the shot put and the discus—were in the Western Conference record books today as the finals of the 48th Annual Outdoor track meet opened at Camp Randall.

Michigan's Charley Fonville and Minnesota's Fortune Gordien, as expected, shattered the Big Nine marks in yesterday's preliminaries dominated by Ohio State in the chase for team laurels. Each of the weight men has three more throws in his pet event today.

Fonville, who has a world record of 58 feet 3/8 inch up for approval, pegged the 16-pound shot 54 feet 10 inches, bettering his own year-old mark by nine inches. Gordien flipped the discus 174 feet 4 inches to erase the conference record of 174 feet 1 inch set in 1941 by Archie Harris of Indiana.

Bojangles Robinson Begins 71st Year With Tapping Feet

By NATE POLOWEIZKY

New York, (AP)—Bojangles picked up his feet, laid them down in spine-tingling manner, opened his mouth in a joyous laugh and thus began his 71st year.

"Look out, look out, here's a eight-piece band comin' down Seventh Avenue," he shouted, his feet tap, tap, tapping.

It was his 70th birthday—Bill Robinson's—and some 400 persons gathered on an excursion boat in the Hudson river to celebrate it.

The famed dancer was dressed in a yachtman's cap, with gold braid. He danced among his friends. Finally they got him to stand still and presented him with a pair of life-sized sculptured dancing shoes.

He fondled them, and said: "There are my dawgs. Got the bunions and all."

Later someone handed him a bottle of champagne with which to christen the ship, the "Bojangles."

The bottle slipped out of his hand and into the river.

"Hey, you," Robinson shouted to a friend, "go get me a diver's bell, because I'm gonna be back here tonight for the bottle."

But he didn't go back.

For last night the Richmond-born dancer appeared before an audience of 20,000 at a benefit in Madison Square Garden to put on his act.

At the conclusion of his dance, Robinson, feet still playing a rhythmic hide and go seek, tapped off stage arm in arm with Secretary of State George Marshall while the audience rose to its feet to serenade him with "Happy Birthday."

Marshall had addressed the rally—a United Nations Children's Benefit—before Robinson's appearance.

Clerk In Pentagon Fixes Himself Up With War Citations

Chicago, May 29. (AP)—John Andrew Keller Jr., 21, who went to work in 1944 as a clerk in the Pentagon building at Washington, left his job with a self-made rating of second lieutenant and a flock of bogus war citations.

"I did it all with an Army mimeograph machine and typewriter," Keller said yesterday after a criminal information was filed in federal court charging him with making false entries in government records.

"I gave myself an honorable discharge, too," Keller said.

The Peotone, Ill., salesman is to be arraigned in federal court next week. Conviction of the charge carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Repairs End Cruise Of South American At Cleveland Docks

Cleveland, May 29 (AP)—The pleasure steamer South American's 60-odd passengers had to disembark in Cleveland today because of damage to her hull.

Otto Willett, Cleveland office manager of the Georgian Bay Line, the vessel's operator, said she apparently struck an underwater obstruction while pulling into Cleveland harbor to pick up more passengers for a Memorial day cruise.

The South American will be towed to Lorain, O., tomorrow and put in drydock there for several days repairs, he said.

The stranded passengers are accepting train tickets back home.

The vessel left Detroit yesterday and was scheduled to return to Detroit and up to Mackinac Island on the line's first cruise of the season. About 150 persons planned to board it here.

Brooklyn Boys Who Shot Up Teacher's House Sentenced

New York, May 29. (AP)—Five boys involved in firing a salvo of rifle shots into a Brooklyn school-teacher's home were sentenced yesterday to indeterminate terms in the New York training school at Warwick.

The sentences were handed down by Brooklyn Children's Court Justice James V. Mulholland who placed a sixth member of the group on probation and committed another to the city's youth house until June 7. At that time, the parents of the boy have promised to take him to the country home of relatives.

The seven were accused of stealing 22 caliber rifles from a Coney Island shooting gallery, then pumping a fusillade of bullets into the home of Miss Margaret Jokiel to frighten her into passing all members of her mathematics class.

The sentencing was private. Which of the boys got the various terms was not disclosed.

Blow, trumpeter. He who lies within this tomb cannot hear you. Speak, orator. He whom you eulogize will sleep on into eternity. For he has heard so many trumpets blown and so many orations spoken that they have lost their meaning. Come, families and school children; fraternal organizations and political leaders—lay your wreaths. But their fragrance and the mottoes they carry will hold no hope for him; their leaves have dried and fallen and their fabric shredded and blown away year after year. He who lies in the tomb is dead. He went into battle fearful as well as gallant, and was struck down. And being a modest fellow, only is made uneasy by trumpets blown, pretty speeches and pretty flowers in his honor. But one thing he would appreciate... one thing which could make his eternal sleep more peaceful... would be for you and me and every member of our families to see to it that his number is not increased. So in his name, let's work harder for unending peace!

But their fragrance and the mottoes they carry will hold no hope for him; their leaves have dried and fallen and their fabric shredded and blown away year after year. He who lies in the tomb is dead. He went into battle fearful as well as gallant, and was struck down. And being a modest fellow, only is made uneasy by trumpets blown, pretty speeches and pretty flowers in his honor. But one thing he would appreciate... one thing which could make his eternal sleep more peaceful... would be for you and me and every member of our families to see to it that his number is not increased. So in his name, let's work harder for unending peace!

Blow, trumpeter. He who lies within this tomb cannot hear you. Speak, orator. He whom you eulogize will sleep on into eternity. For he has heard so many trumpets blown and so many orations spoken that they have lost their meaning. Come, families and school children; fraternal organizations and political leaders—lay your wreaths.
